Just another cold, snowy football game that was lost in the closing seconds, another boring fourth period in a sweaty stuffy room, another class meeting that only three-fourths of the class showed up to, another pep rally that no one yelled at, just another B in English. Just another average September.

For The Record, 1982 was just another average year. Or was it?

Look at that boy go !!

Dear Sacey,

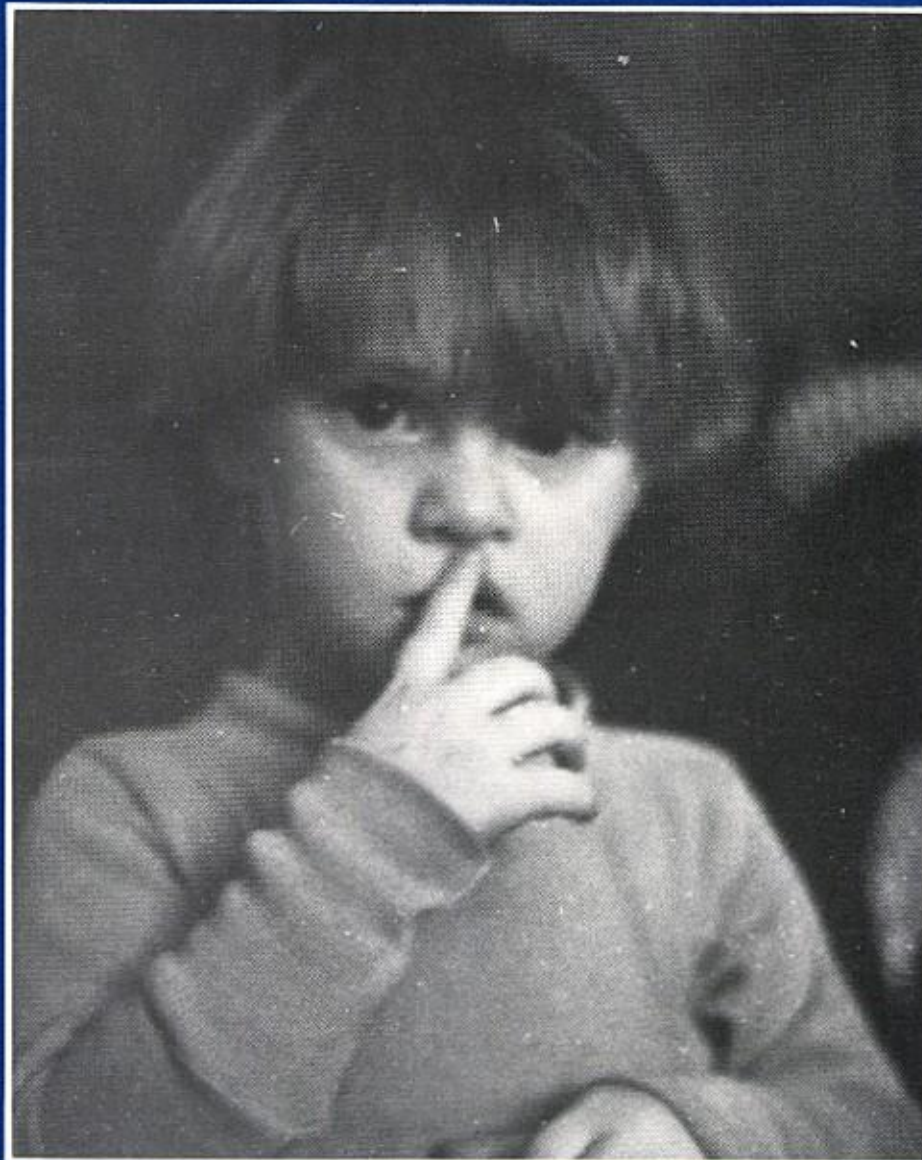

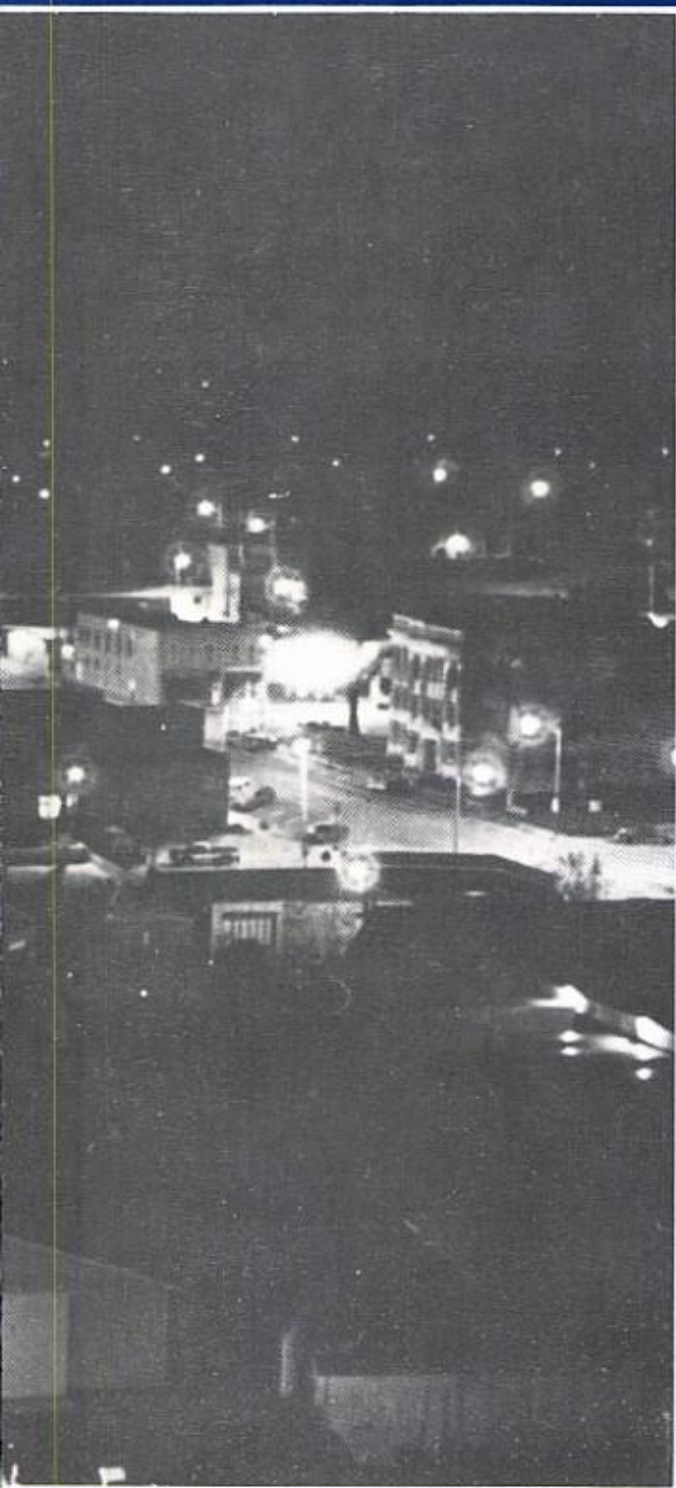

Doug Welnick #45

You are one little terrific girl. Sweet, cute, and very thoughtful. I like girls like you that make everybody feel good. Especially me. Thanks for being here. Best wishes and Good luck in the Future.

Love,

Doug Welnick

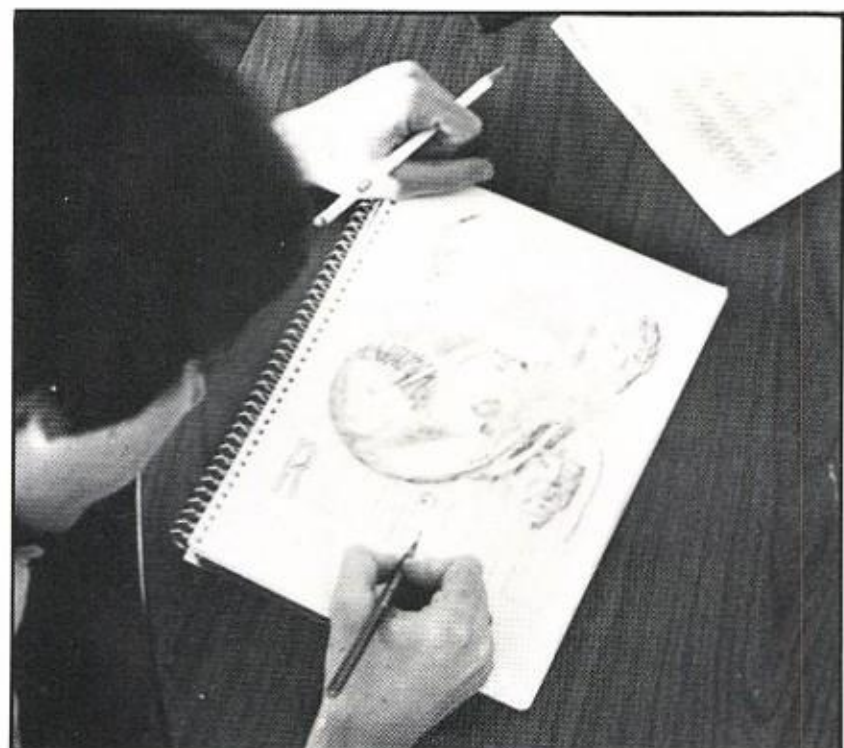

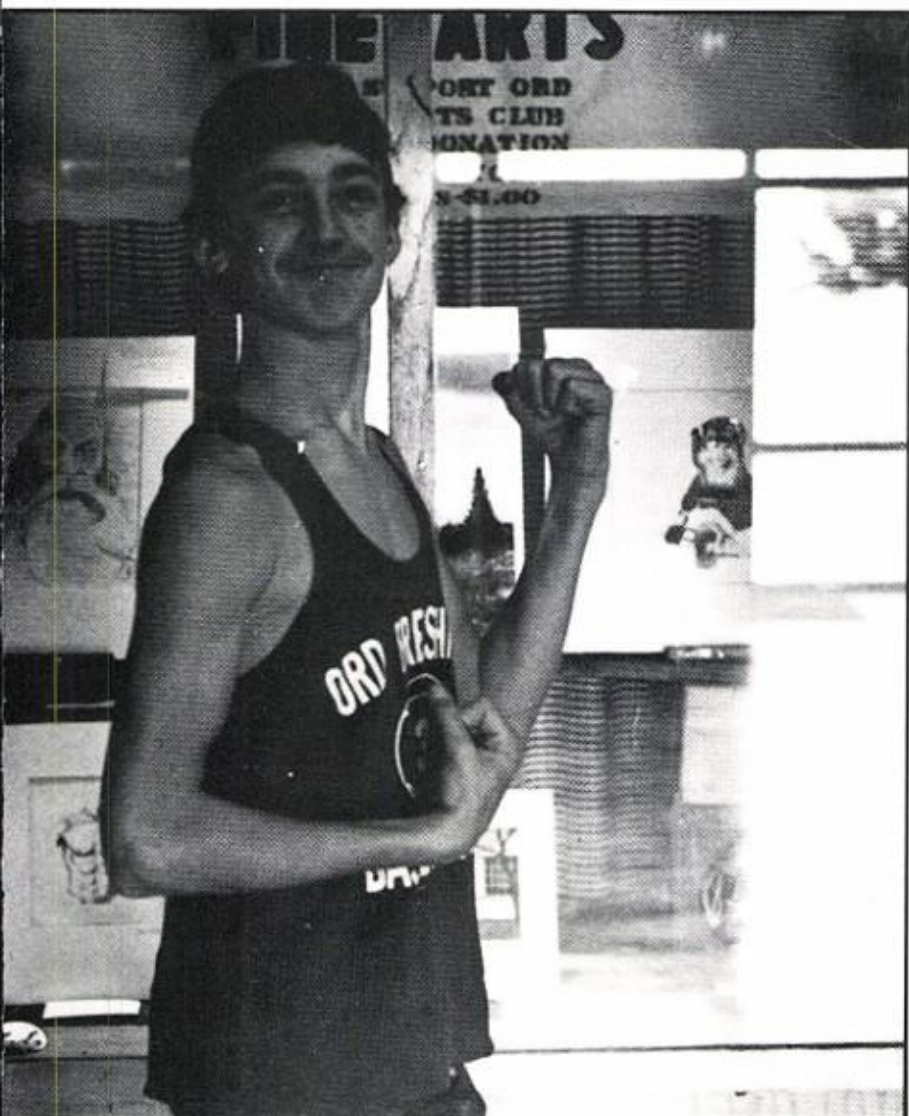

The girls enjoyed a new locker room, while the guys took advantage of the new wrestling and weight room facilities. Halls around OHS experienced a new look with murals, designs and paintings provided by the Fine Arts Club. The Varsity Football team thrilled their fans by making an amazing turn around from last year's disappointing 1-8 season and coasting to a stout 6-2-0 finish. Narrowly missing the state football playoffs was frustrating but at the end of the season the Chants were rated by the Omaha World Herald sixth in the state class B ratings.

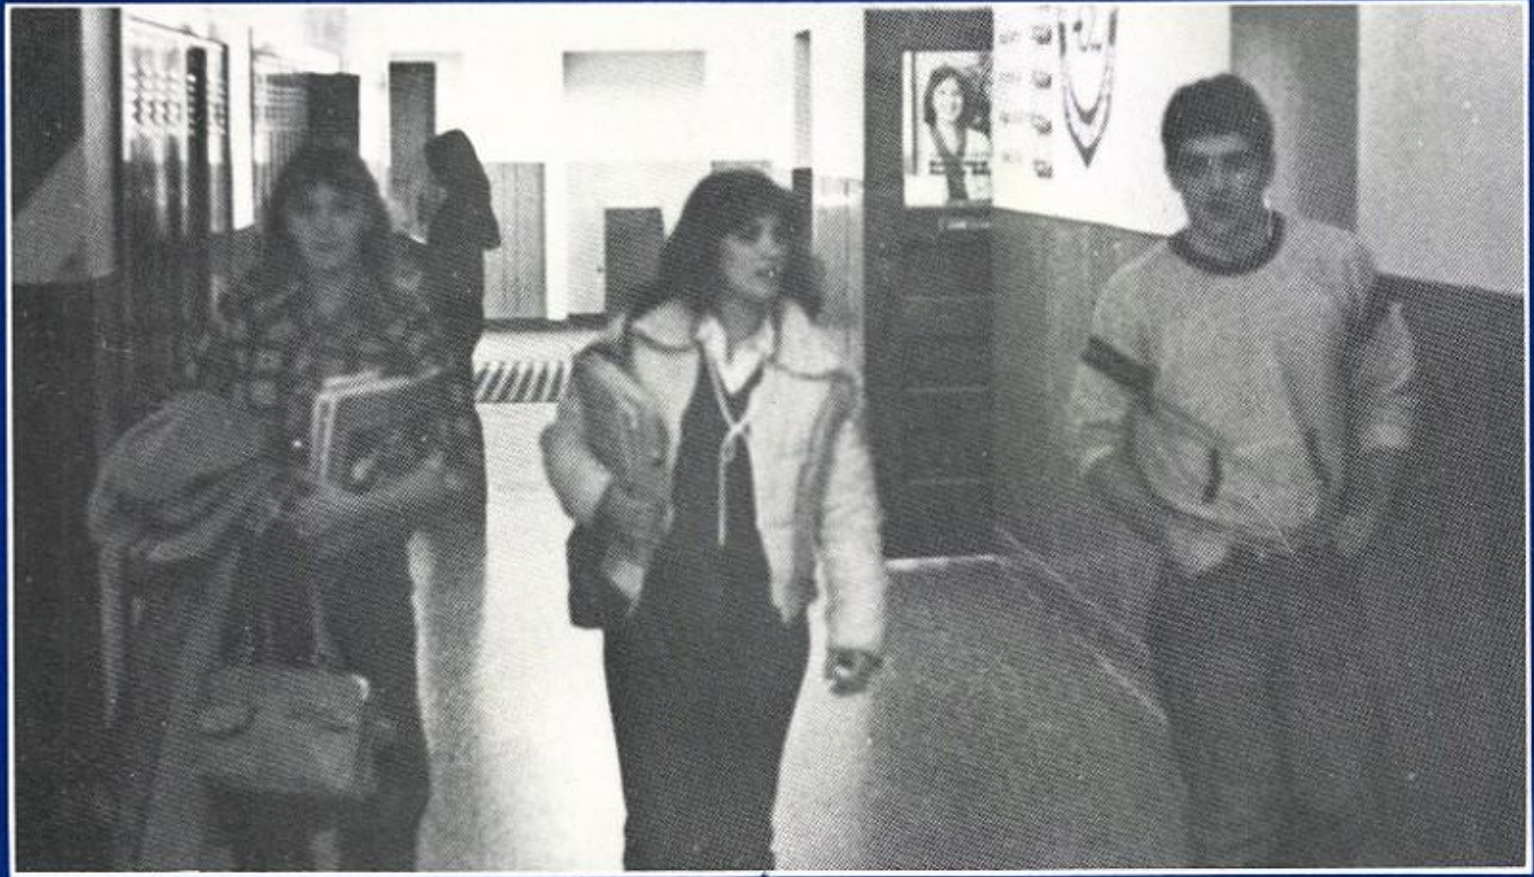

Icy streets and automobiles buried to their axles in snow became increasingly common due to the record snowfalls that were dumped on the midwest. This winter was termed by many, one of the worst winters ever. Surprisingly the school's paper, the "ORACLE," survived the financial worries due to the seven percent lid bill implied on all schools. The ORACLE never missed a deadline and published their own paper.

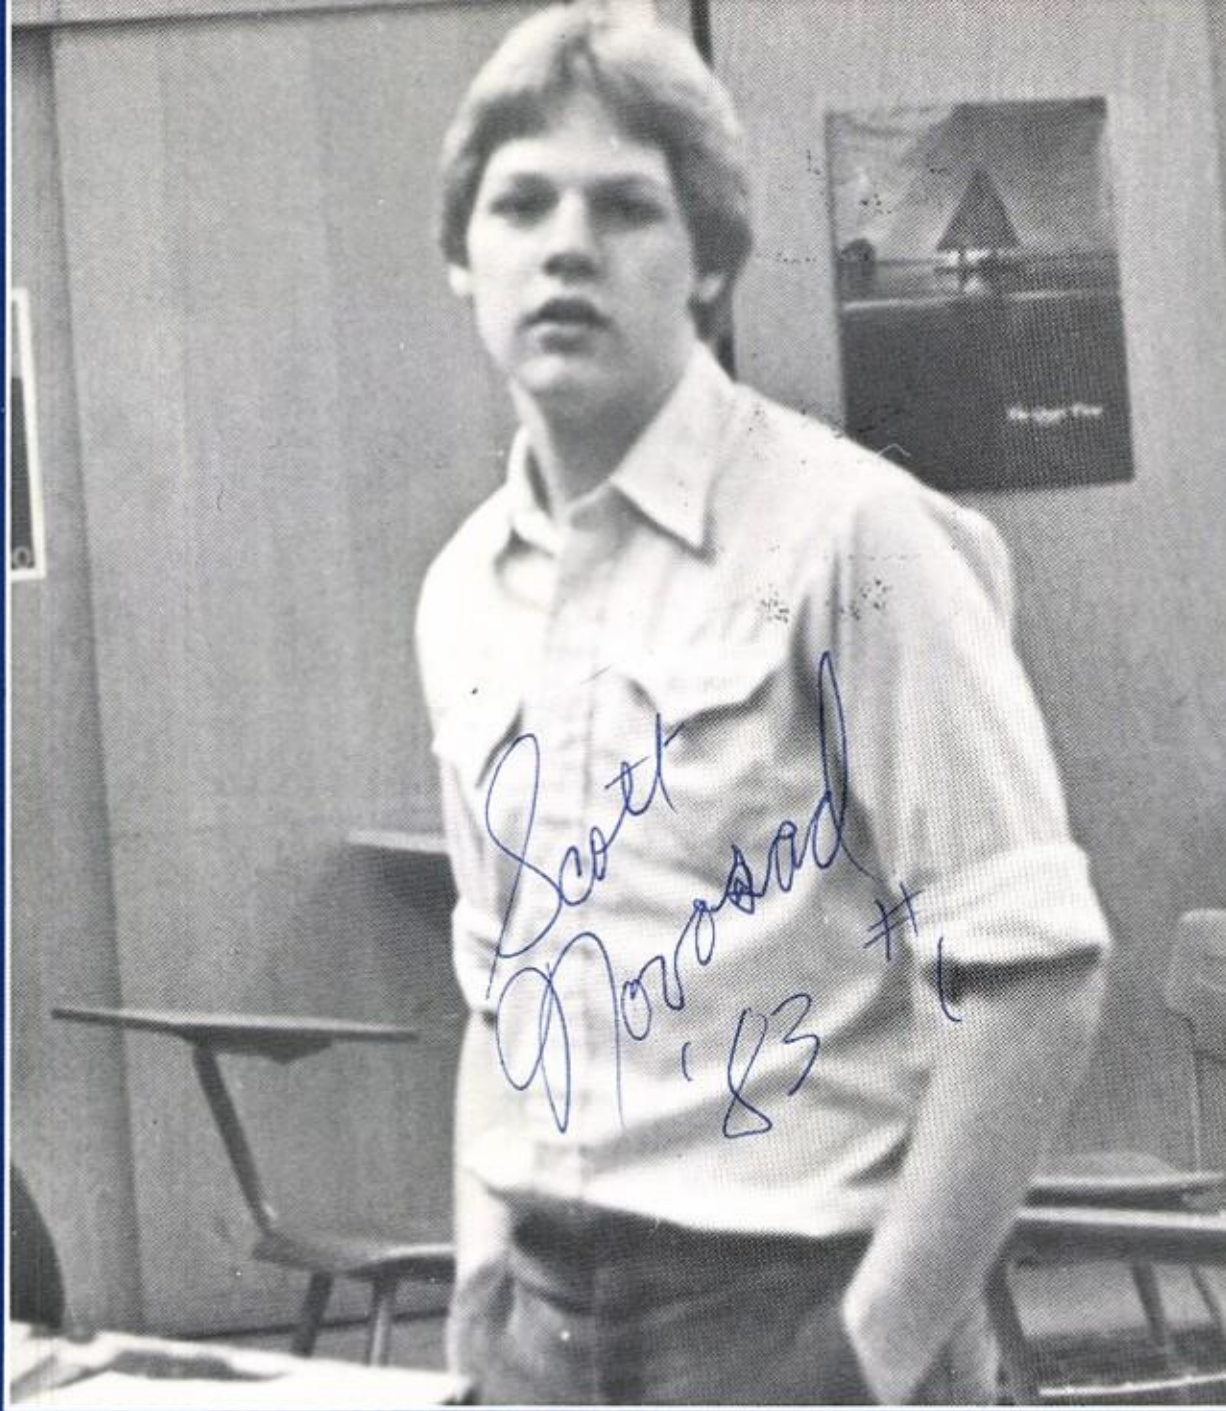

Pride and dignity were brought back to the Wrestling team as the Chanticleers muscled their way through an undefeated regular season. Central Conference wrestling tournaments came and Ord easily walked over their opponents and staked claim to the first place trophy. Boots were pulled on and cowboy hats were donned by the 18th Street Singers as they turned country. The usually quiet crowds that attend concerts at OHS became somewhat rowdy when the singers struck up their version of the single "Rocky Top."

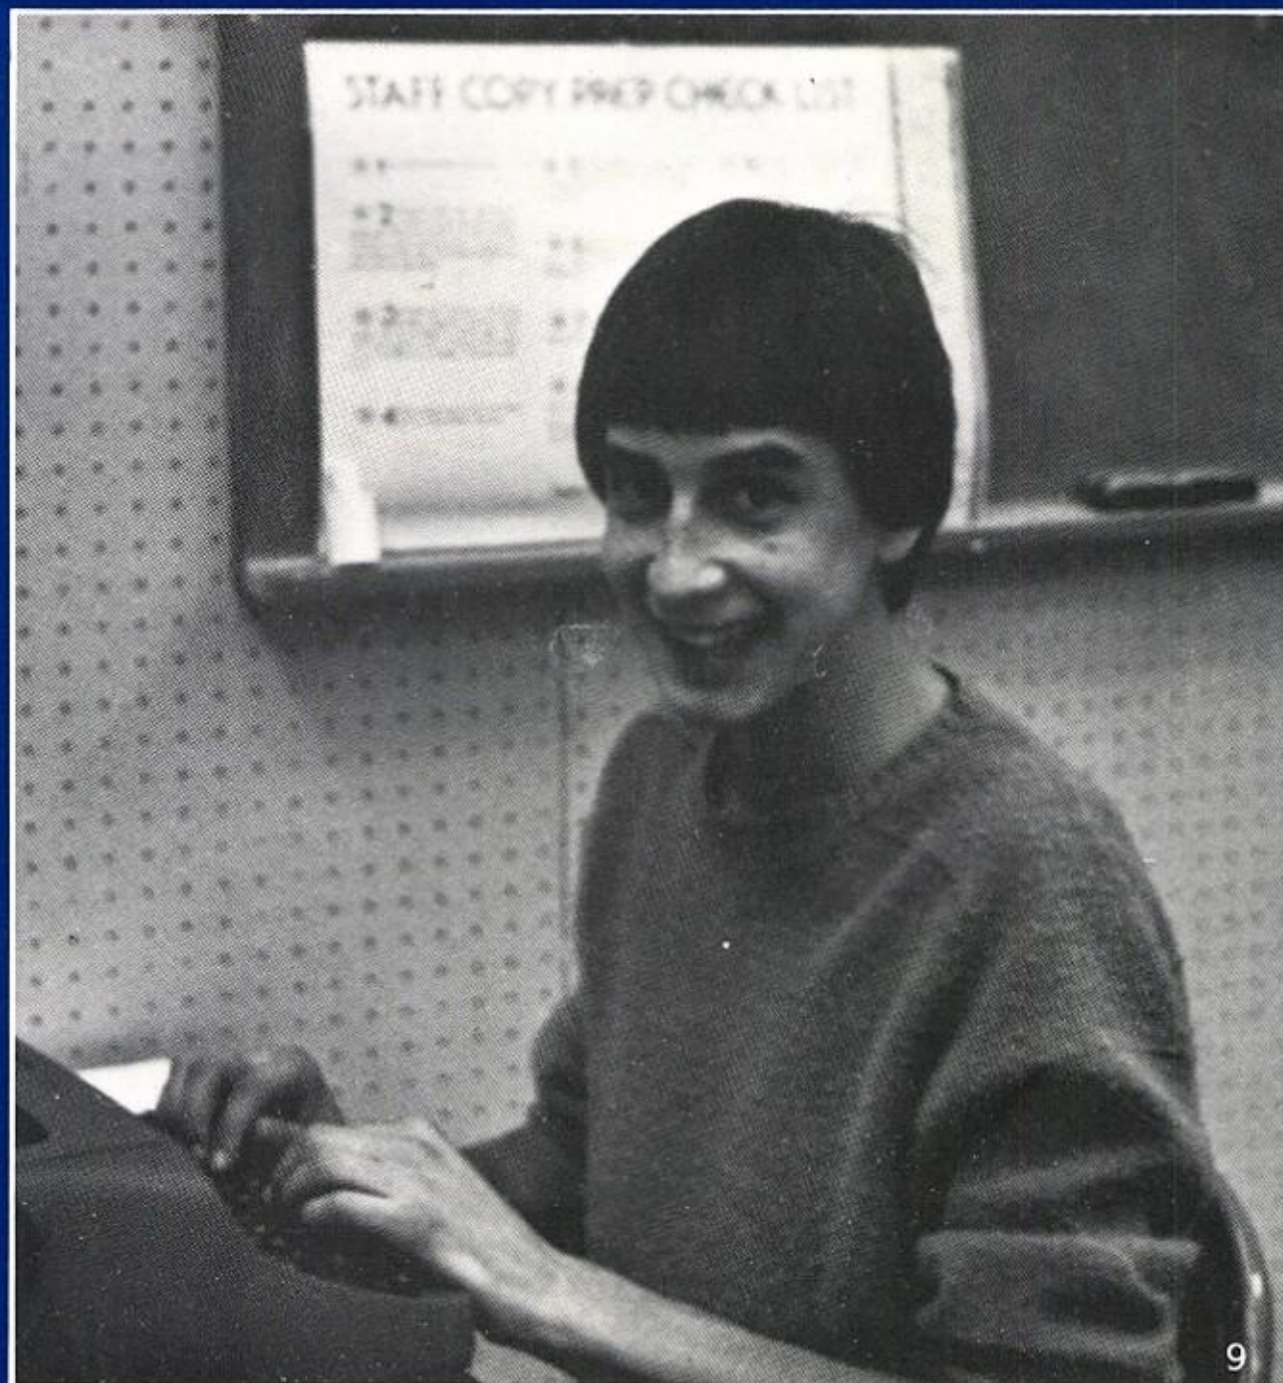

O Club, Drill team and Pep Club took a dive. FBLA, AIASA and other such clubs flourished. FFAers weren't just the group that drove four wheel drive pickups and boasted SKOAL rings around their jeans pockets. Instead FFA was the select group that travelled to district and state contests and brought home a significant number of trophies, medals, and ribbons. FHA started a program called "Teacher of the Month" award that gave much needed recognition to the hard-working men and women of our school. Student Council accomplished what they thought was the impossible; make money successfully at the Homecoming Dance.

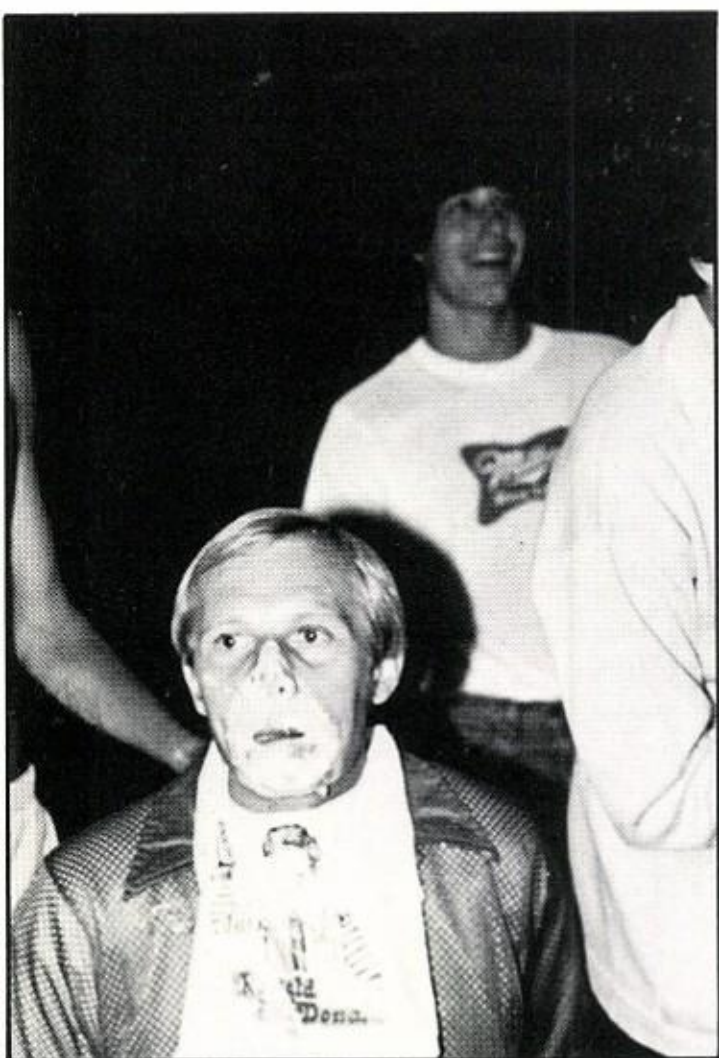

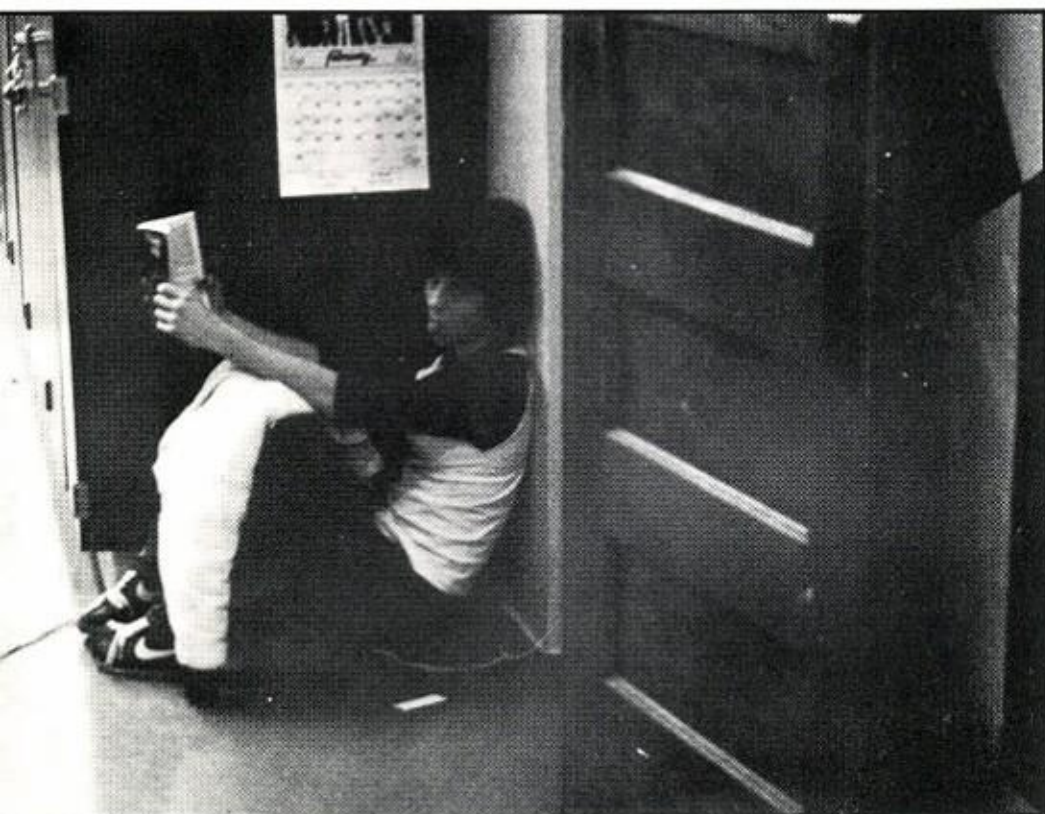

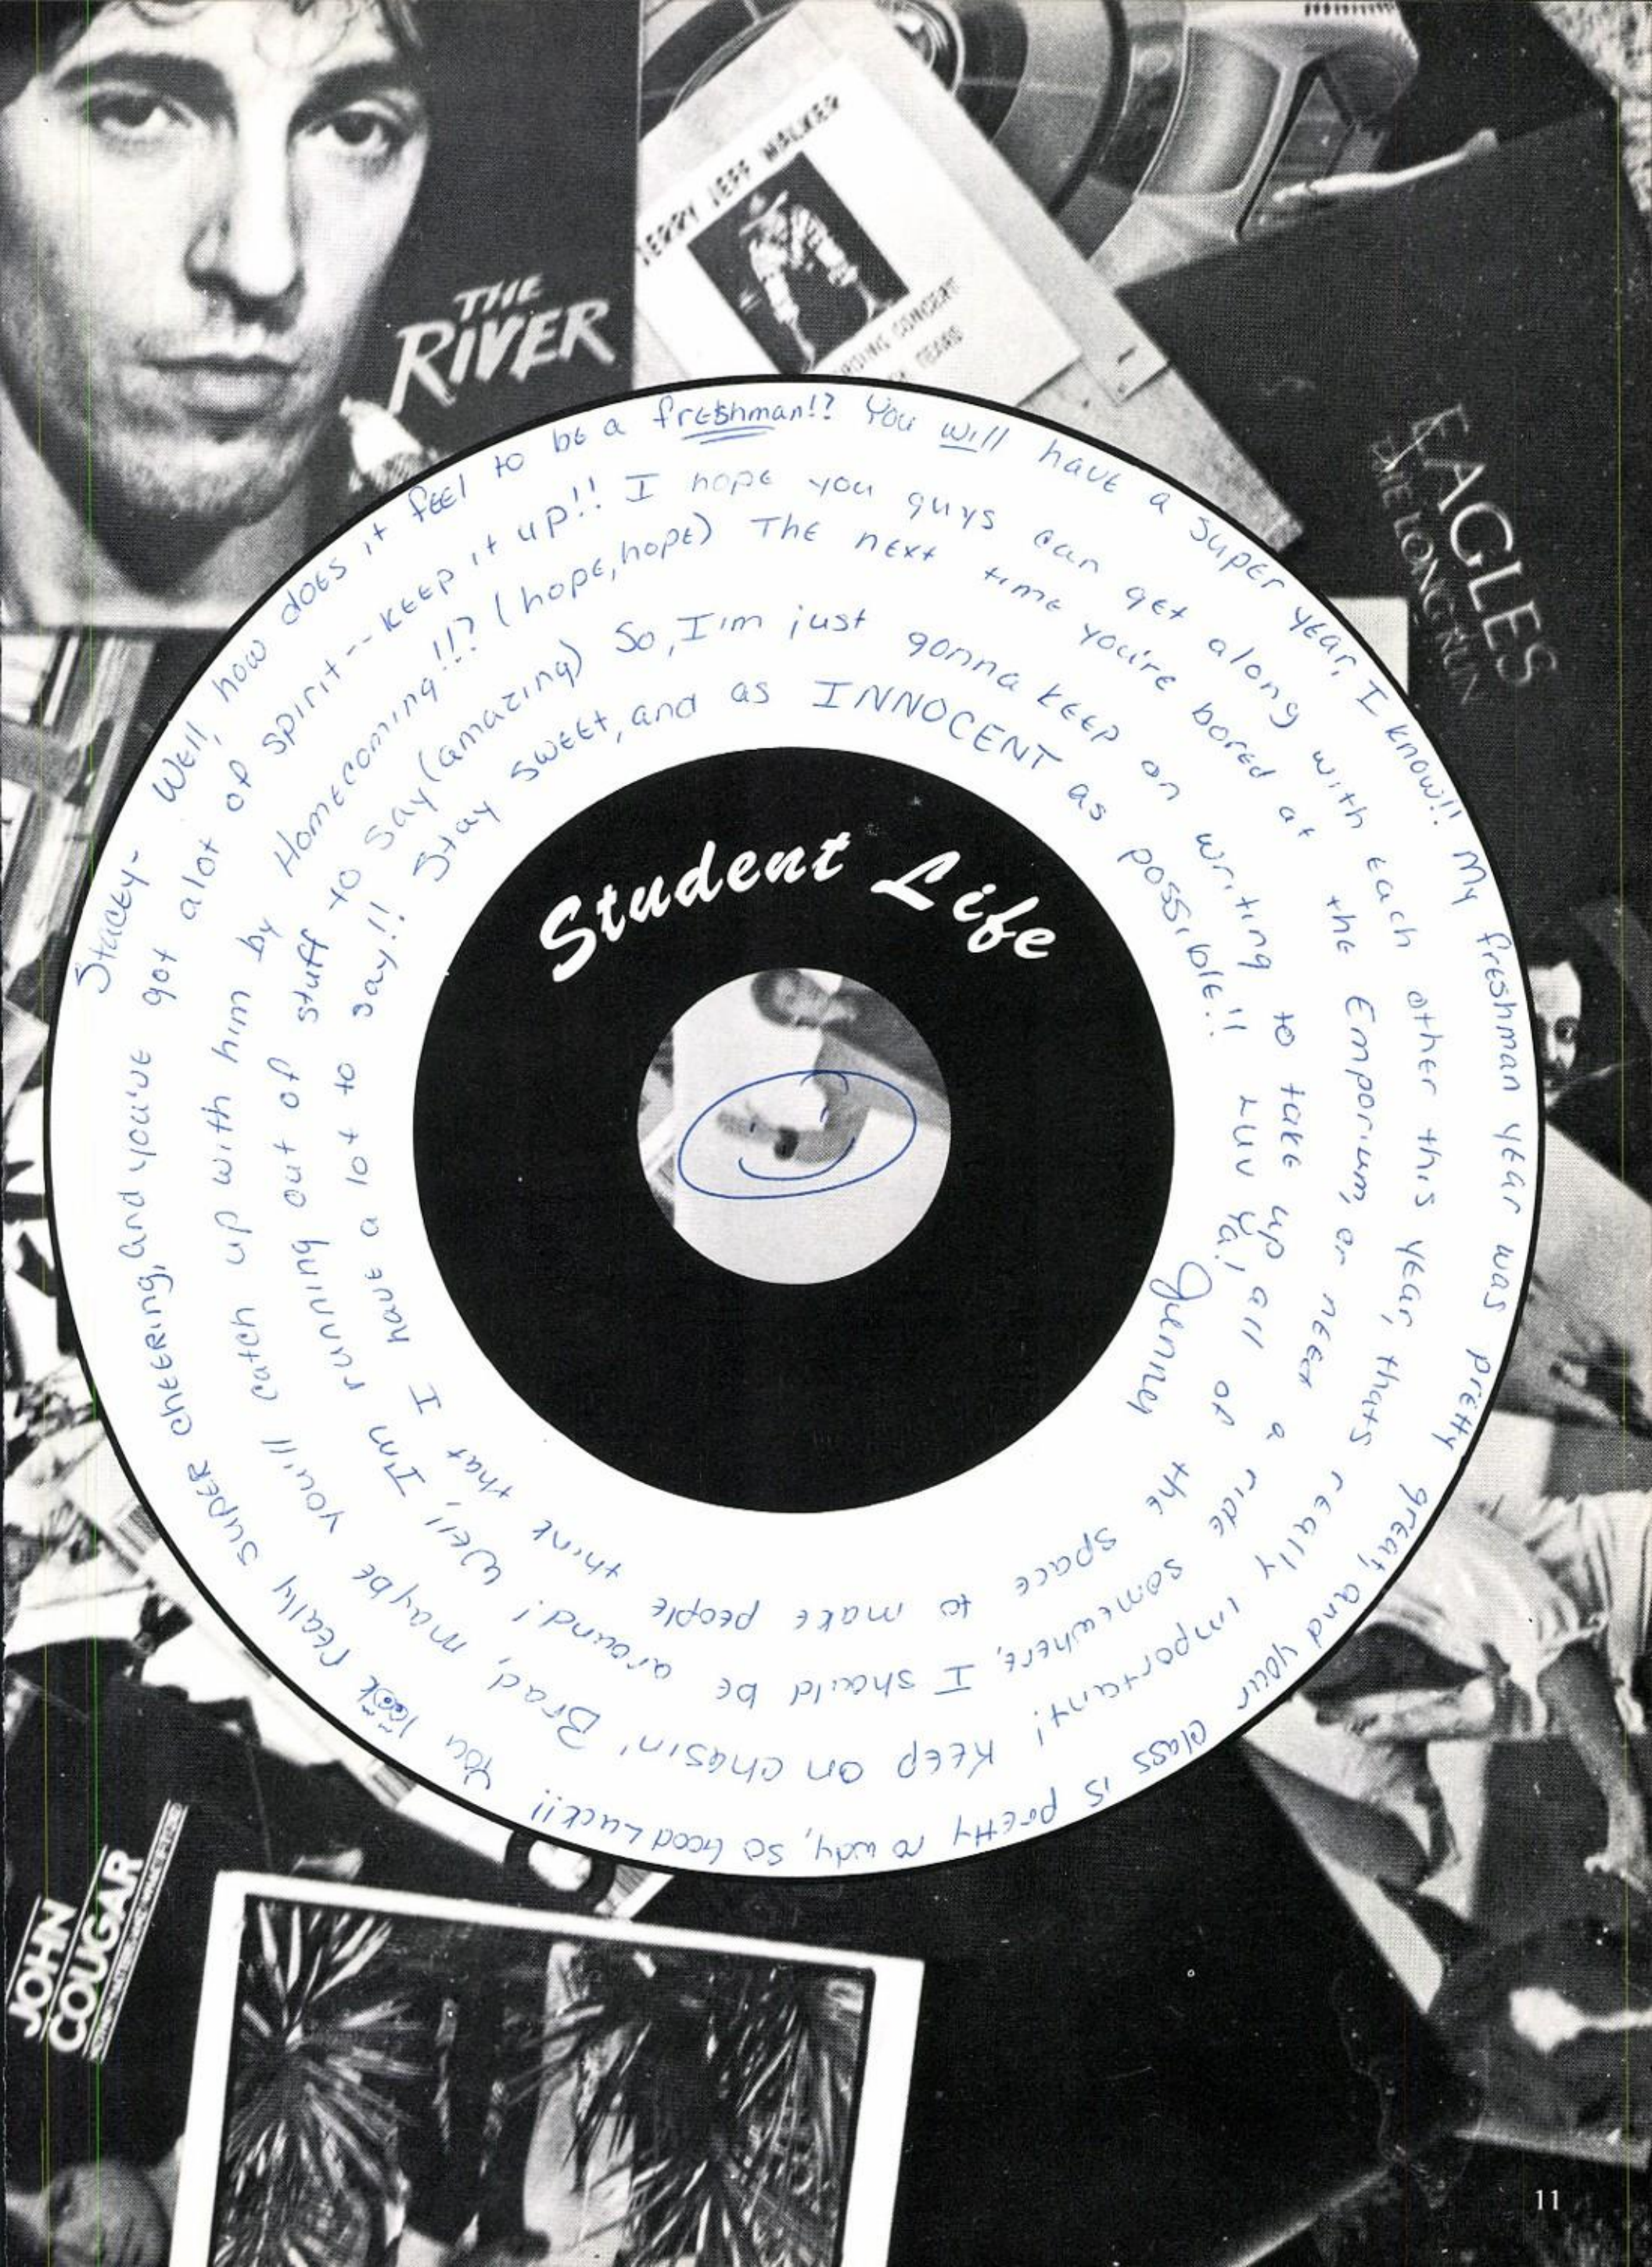

Four new teachers marched through the doors of Ord High this year, equipped with the traditional down slips, boxes of chalk and grade books. New names such as Ernst, Pedersen, Calleroz and Lipstreu brought a new and exciting feeling to OHS. The controversy concerning whether or not to have a country western band for the prom dance angered enough students to hold several class meetings to decide the outcome. Some seniors went as far as to hold a petition drive to get a rock-n-roll band.

For The Record, 1982 was not just another ordinary year. 1982 was and always will be a memorable and treasured part of our lives.

The Pursuit of Cash

50% to 60% of the student body pursued a part-time job this year. For most it was necessary to get a job just to enjoy the few small luxuries people our age enjoy. As long as hours per week weren't more than 20 or 25, work usually didn't interfere with school.

Saving money for college, the future, a car, clothes, and just to afford a healthy social life were common reasons for getting a job. Some students obtained jobs that would give them experience for their future careers.

Homecoming a success, gets students involved

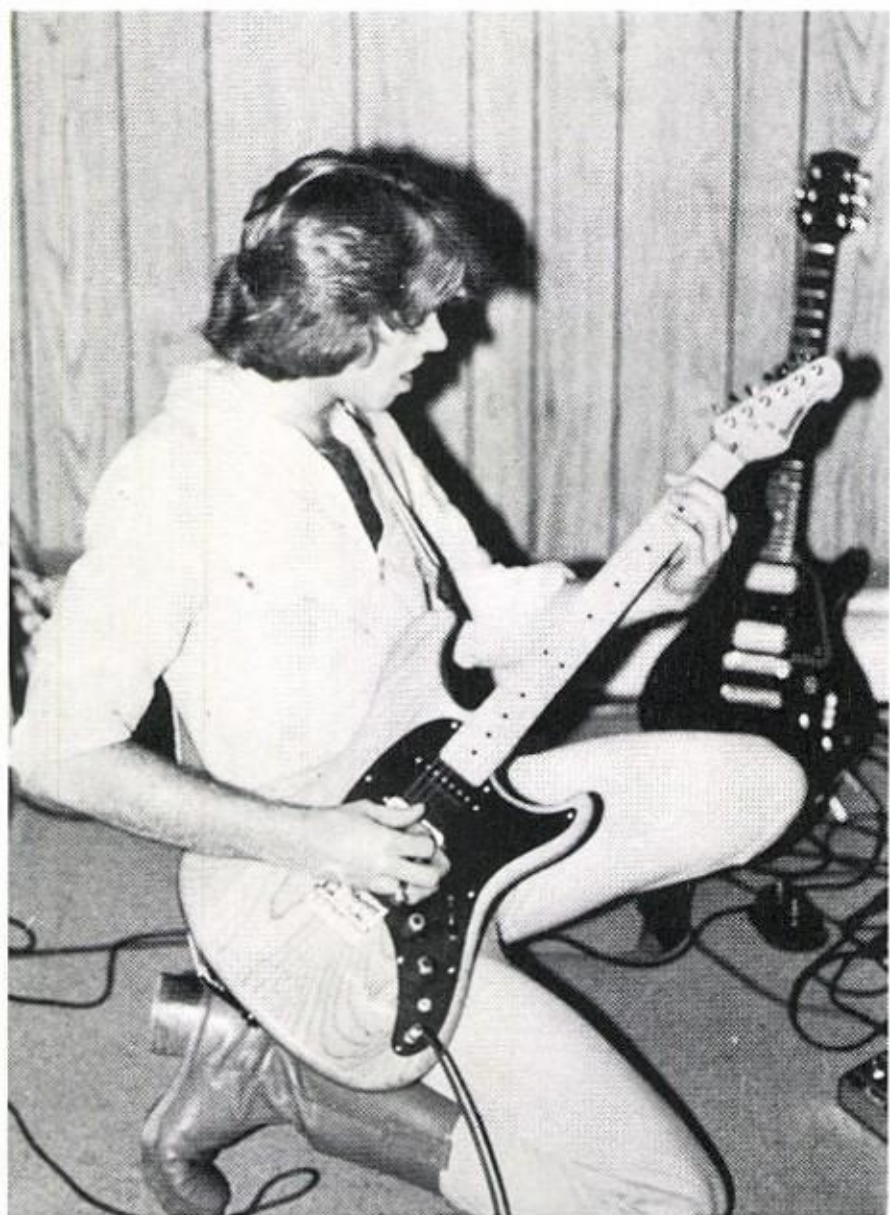

Homecoming, being one of the most exciting times of the school year, was a success. From the Marshmallow Gobble to Western Day, students participated in activities all week until the final day. Friday began with Red and White Day and concluded with the Homecoming dance with the band "Flight" sponsored by the Senior High Student Council.

Bruce Petska and Tammy Sears were crowned the 1981-82 Homecoming king and queen by Randy David and Rhonda Pargman, the reigning 1980-81 king and queen.

Journey, Foreigner preferred by most

By taking a poll, the annual staff found that 72% of the Ord High student body preferred Rock and 28% preferred Country music. The musical preferences of students was varied. The top two favorite albums were, first, Foreigner 4 and second, Journey Escape. "Centerfold" by the J. Geils Band and "Physical" by Olivia Newton-John were the two top songs. Top male and female vocalists were Rick Springfield and Pat Benatar.

Work and play

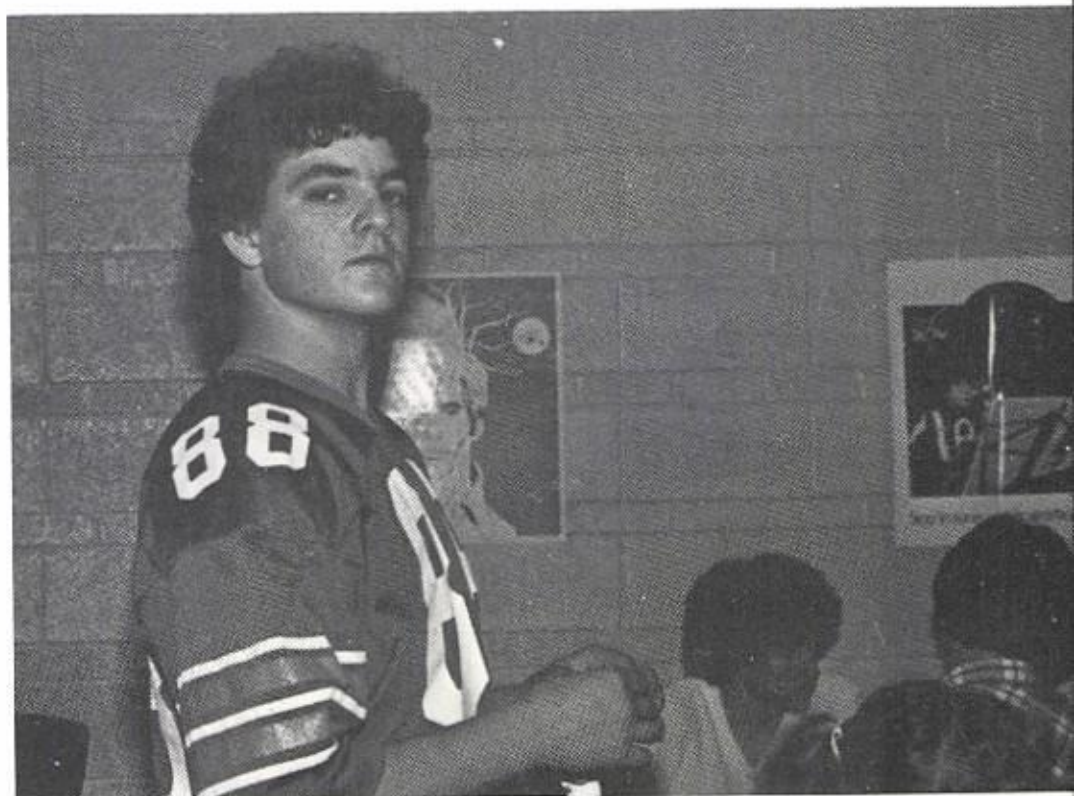

All work and no play make Jack a dull boy. So the saying goes. Studying is important but there are sometimes when you just have to take a break from the books and do a little goofing off. This page shows some Ord High students taking time out just to do a little bit of nothing.

Giving the cameraman a smile are Freshmen Stacy Dowse and Brian Goodsell.

3 O'clock, time for fun

During the day, the school building is a busy center of activities and learning, but soon after the 3 o'clock bell rings, the halls are empty.

Often, when good weather strikes, teachers become frustrated with students whose minds and eyes are wandering out the window instead of doing their work.

3 o'clock is also the time when students are free from those stuffy classrooms and all of that mind-boggling schoolwork; at least until the next day.

'81-'82, full of memories

The 1981-82 year was full of changes that we will probably never see again. Not only in the national news, but also here in Ord and at Ord High School, new things and new events came about during the year. Great Britain and Argentina went to war over the Falkland Islands; the Royal Wedding of Prince Charles and Lady Diana was celebrated; and actor and comedian John Belushi died of a drug over-dose. The changes here in Ord consisted of many new businesses including the Pump and Pantry. The new murals on the walls of Ord High really made a brighter atmosphere in the school, and new score boards were put up in the gym. This was an eventful year full of memories and that is why the 1981-82 school year goes down for the record.

"Drifting and dreaming"

"Drifting and Dreaming" — can be anything from floating on a tropical sea to thinking of far away romantic places. This was the theme the Juniors picked for prom 1982.

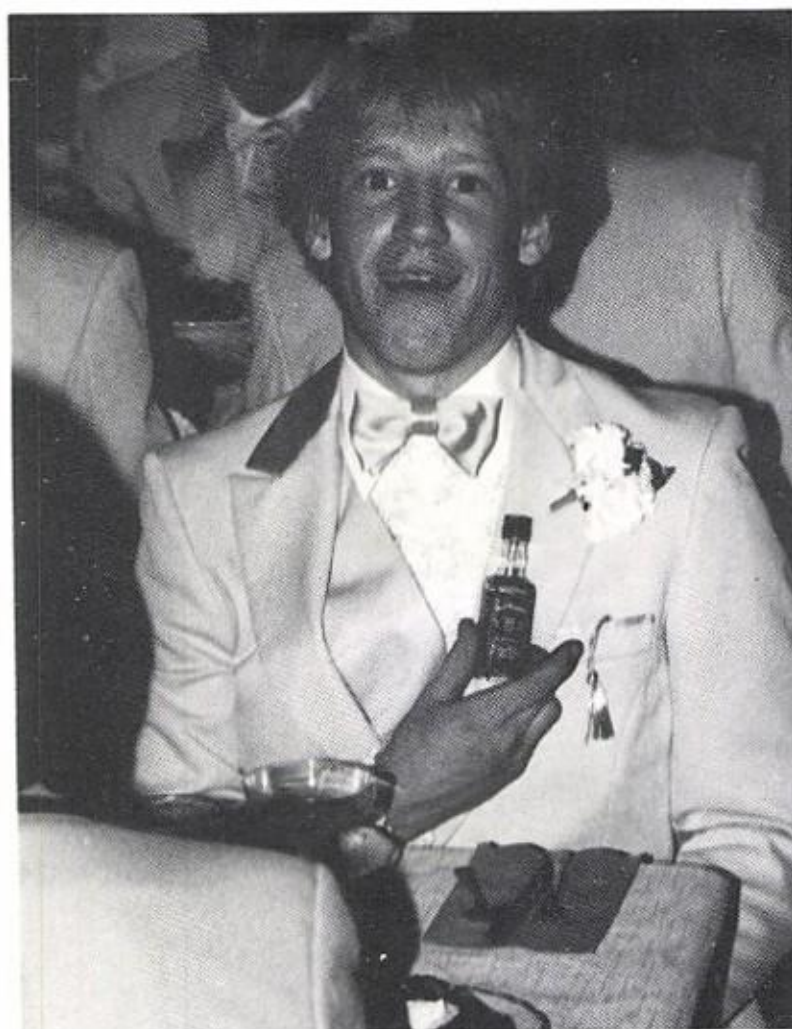

It started off with the banquet, then a speech from the guest speaker, Mr. John Minnick. After the banquet, prom-goers entered the dance room through a strobe-lighted tunnel, which led them to a land of wishing wells and a net-covered ceiling filled with balloons. There was also a 50 foot long mural of a mountain scene and a castle.

After the picture taking session was over, the music for the dance was supplied by the band "Straight Shot," who brought the house down with their wild rock and roll tunes.

Stu. Co. carnival draws large crowd

Student Council, although not as active as in past years, did hold some very successful activities, such as the traditional Homecoming, which surprisingly made money. Their other responsibilities included supplying the pop machine, Teacher of the Year Award, and the annual Carnival, which was a whopping success this year. Student Council officers included: President, Brad Stephens; Vice-Pres., John Dubas; Sec., Shelly Hulbert; and Treasurer, Bruce Petska.

First year organization sparks interest

There was a new organization at Ord High this year under the name of the Fine Arts Club. The club contained 21 members and the sponsor is Leo Lauver. Requirements for membership are to be an Ord High student and interested in art. The purpose of Fine Arts is to organize the students interested in Art and to get them to work together. One of their big events was painting school logos in the gym. Their President was Chris Finley and Vice President was Tim Riley. Mr. Lauver says "The Fine Arts Club has a very good outlook for next year."

New members added to N.H.S.

The National Honor Society is founded on the principles of scholarship, leadership, service and character. Nine new members were added to the list this year, four Juniors and five Seniors. The members were selected by a faculty committee headed under Dan Hersh. Newly selected members were presented their certificates of membership during Honors night May 11th.

The 1981-1982 FHA Officers

The Future Homemakers of America were very active this year. A membership drive kicked off the year. The main events of the year were The Annual Faculty Breakfast, Installation of new members, District Convention FHA Week, Foreign Food Supper, Fun Fair for the eighth Graders, and Honor's Banquet. Jody Knapp was also State Vice-President and Bob and Kathy Knapp were State Chapter Parents.

Recipients of the FHA teacher of the month award are: Mrs. Bartholomew Mr. Lippstreu and Ms. Weber.

F.F.A. posts five state farmers

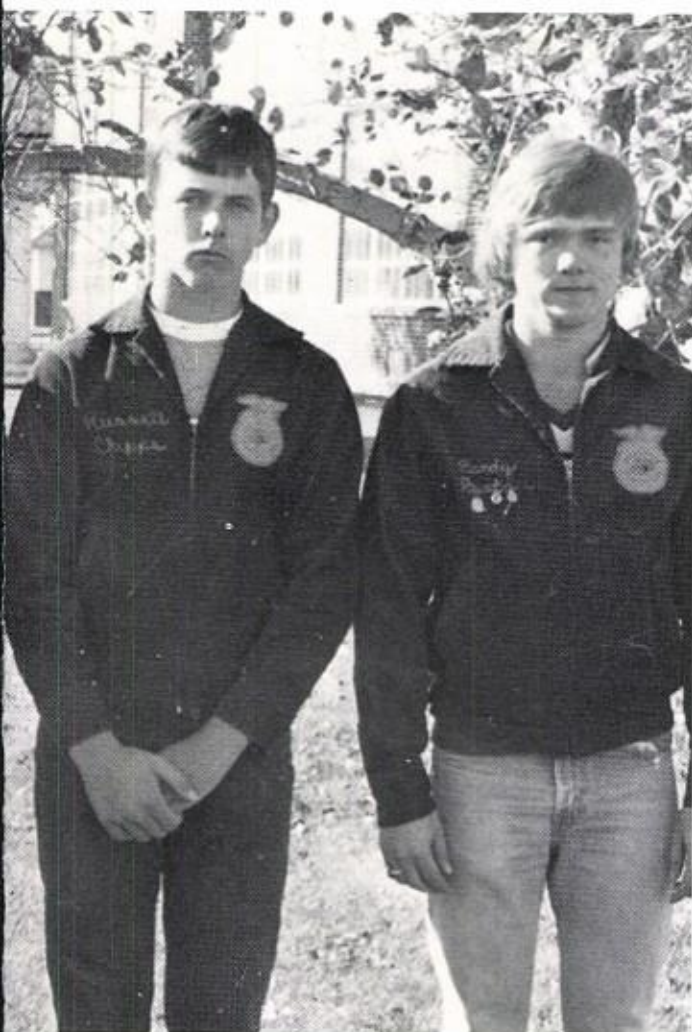

During the year, FFA was a very active organization. Some of the activities they participated in included State and District range judging contest, the annual pork barbeque, Green Hand ceremony, State FFA contest and many others.

The number of members is 94, five of which are State Farmers. They are Randy Psota, Steve Setlik, Craig Vancura, Sterling Ritz, and Deann Hopkins.

FFA is sponsored by Frank Andreesen and Ed

Bruha. This year's officers were: Steve Setlik, President; Sterling Ritz, Vice-Pres.; Jay Knapp, Secretary; Randy Psota, Treasurer; Craig Vancura, Reporter; Andy Bredthauer, Sentinal; and Deann Hopkins, Parliamentarian.

Each year, FFA elects an FFA Sweetheart. The girl has to be a senior and live in a rural area. This year's FFA Sweetheart was Amy Gibbons. Her competitors were Brenda Dowse and Janine Potrzeba.

Requirements for membership include having been or are now enrolled in an Industrial Arts class.

The membership increased by three this year. There were also people at State representing the Ord chapter: Mike Walkowiak, vice-president; James Psota, sergeant-at-arms; Dave Nagorski, reporter; Mike Irvine, Historian; Troy Kowalski, Parliamentarian. Mr. Koelling is the AIASA sponsor.

F.B.L.A. teaches students, community

The purpose of FBLA is to better educate both students and community about the business world. The organization was not very active this year, although they did sponsor a haunted house during Halloween.

Officers for 1982 included: President, Cindy Valasek; Vice-President, Nancy Hartman; Secretary, Janine Potrzeba; and Treasurer, Carol Blaha. The sponsor for this group was Mr. Shrader.

F.C.A. sponsor singers

Fellowship of Christian Athletes had been busy making money this year. By selling spices and candy they were able to attend the Week-end of Champions retreat at Fremont.

This year, FCA sponsored a performance by a Christian contemporary singing group called "Watermark." They also had a Fun Night for the members and families, with the guest speaker being Dr. Martin.

Their sponsors were Jan Weber, Carl Streeter and Elaine Haas.

New twirlers excite crowd

This year, along with Drill Team, there was a new group — Baton Twirlers. They performed at alternating home basketball games and other occasions. Mr. Rischling was the Drill Team and Twirlers sponsor. Marci Marshall, one of the twirlers, said that the practice hours took up a lot of her spare time, but that performing in front of the audience was an incredible thrill.

Changing tradition this year, the Cheerleaders went from ten girls to six for varsity and they added a reserve squad. Doing this took quite a load off of the girls' minds. It also gave the reserve athletes a little more recognition.

Devoting many long and tedious hours to practice, beginning early in the summer, and investing hard earned money on outfits and admissions to games, the girls set out to promote spirit, loyalty and pride among incoming students and teachers, as well as returning Chants.

Throughout the year, the cheerleaders gave endless support to all the teams. They were always there . . . and ready to cheer!

New group kept busy

Reserve Cheerleaders were a new group in '82. There were four Reserve Cheerleaders and they were all kept busy attending volleyball, football and basketball games and wrestling matches. Giving their support to Reserve teams, the four cheerleaders were: Marci Marshall, Captain, Ginger Witherwax, Lynette Staab, and Angela George.

Jr. high spirit!

This year there were six cheerleaders supporting the Junior High teams. Their support and enthusiasm often pushed the Junior Chants to VICTORY!

The six cheerleaders were: Kim Clement, head cheerleader; Kara Cook; Sara Trubey, Michelle Kowalski; Shani Bundy; and Darla Nolte. The sponsor was Pat Grove.

Interest in chess, games grows

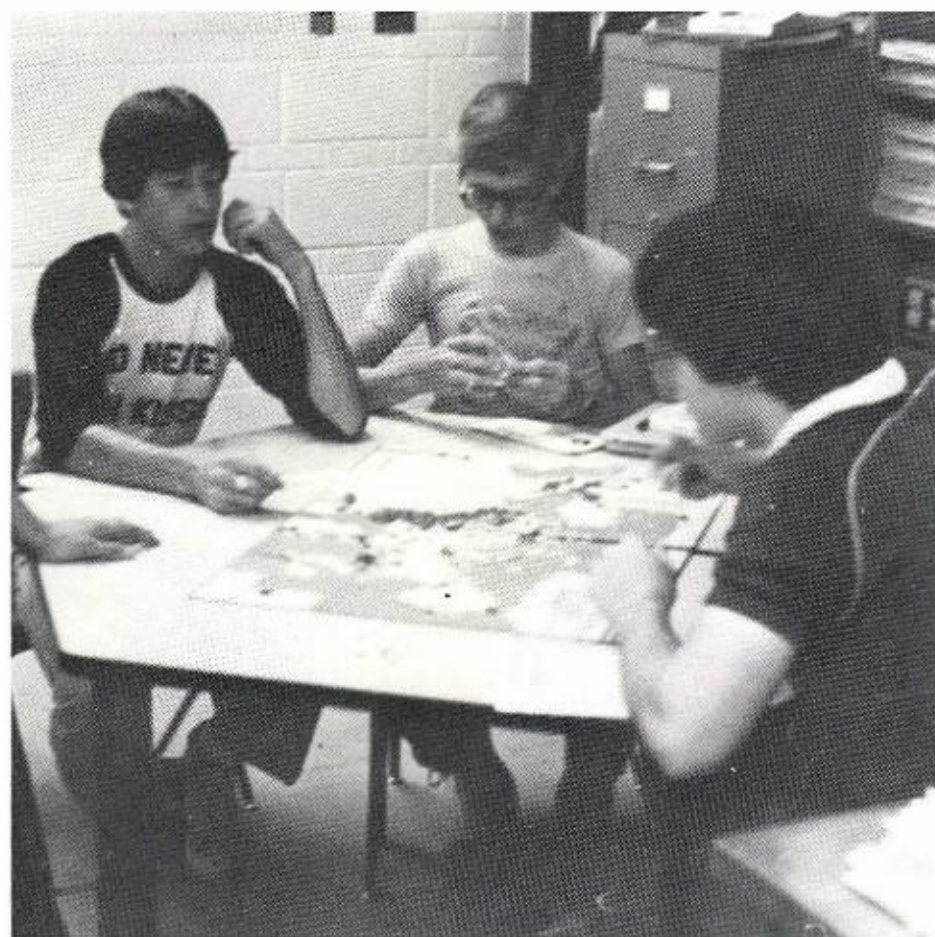

This year, a chess tournament was an addition to activities at O.H.S. 12 students participated. The activity was developed by Mr. Lippstreu, while playing chess with a student. When a number of students began to take interest, the tournament took shape. Doug Weems became the tournament champion this year by defeating Susan George in the finals. Mr. Lippstreu also added that they hope to have just as many participants next year as they had this year.

A game club formed by Mr. Ernst was another addition. The group, which varied from 5-15 met after school and on weekends to play simulation games. The purpose of the club was to bring together competitors, for entertainment, and to gain knowledge of history.

Planning strategic moves are Susan George, and Chris Bruha.

Vocal music, superior

This year, the Jr. High Chorus was busy trying out for Ord Singers. They were also busy learning music for the spring variety show, the Musicalia. Singers as well, were trying out for the Variety show and also for the spring music contest.

Along with these two groups was Chorus. They worked hard for the Musicalia and, when the weather was nice, sold calendars.

Other small groups were Madrigal, Triple Trio, and Mixed Quartet. All groups represented Ord High with class at the District Music competition in Kearney, receiving many superior ratings.

Singers go on tour

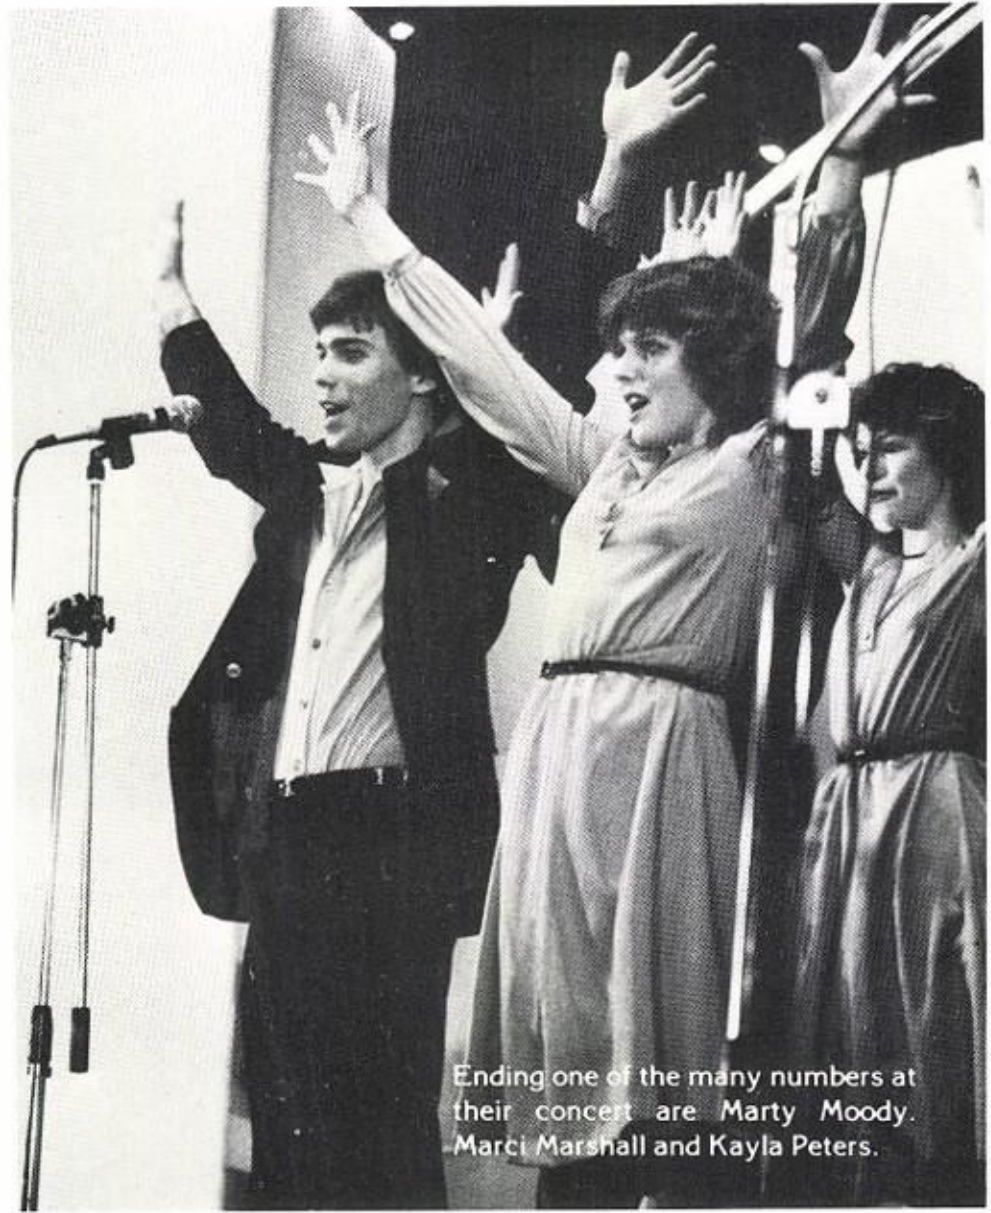

Showing a change this year, the 18th Street Singers introduced country and western to their various styles of music. This change included a new western wardrobe, complete with hats and boots.

Besides their annual concert 18th Street Singers received a one at district music contest in Kearney. They also went on tour to 4 area towns including Wheeler Central, Loup City, Pleasanton, and Sargent.

According to Brenda Dowse and Carol Blaha, 18th Street Singers involves a lot of hard work and is very time consuming. They both agree that being elected to the group is a great honor and also a lot of fun.

According to Carol Blaha Musicalia "82" went smoothly. Carol was mistress of ceremonies and Doug Schernikau was master of ceremonies. Carol thought the two of them could have used more work.

There were several different performances, these included two dances by Mary Avidano to "Get Down On It" and Danette Acquin to "Last Dance." A comedy act was performed by Martin, Marty Moody's twin brother, while Pat Masin brought things back to earth when he played the guitar and sang "If You Could Read My Mind." Other singing acts included: Jr. High Chorus, Mike Linke, Kim Michalski, Madrigal, Tammy Muligan, Kayla Peters, Chorus, Stacie Dowse, Mixed Quartet, Paul Meese, Triple Trio, Doug Schernikau, Girls Trio, Kim Clement — Doug Schernikau duet, and Brenda Dowse.

Once again the Ord band members traveled to Kansas City for the Worlds of Fun Festival of Bands. They worked very hard to raise money for the trip, doing odd jobs such as bake sales and raffling off a $100 bill.

Besides their trip, the band played for half times at football, volleyball and basketball games. They also attended North Loup Popcorn days and Pershing Indoor marching band competition.

This year, Ord hosted an Honor Band Clinic. Meals were served for participants and the evening ended with a mass band concert.

"Out of the Frying Pan" was performed by the Ord High Drama Club. The play told the story of three actors and three actresses that shared an apartment together for financial reasons. Being a comedy, the production was a big hit with the audience. The play was directed by Alice Berigan. Asked how she enjoyed directing the play she said, "Through the eight weeks of practice, the cast was enthusiastic and extremely cooperative." Paul Hill, a cast member, remarked that "it was fun to work together to try and make the play a success."

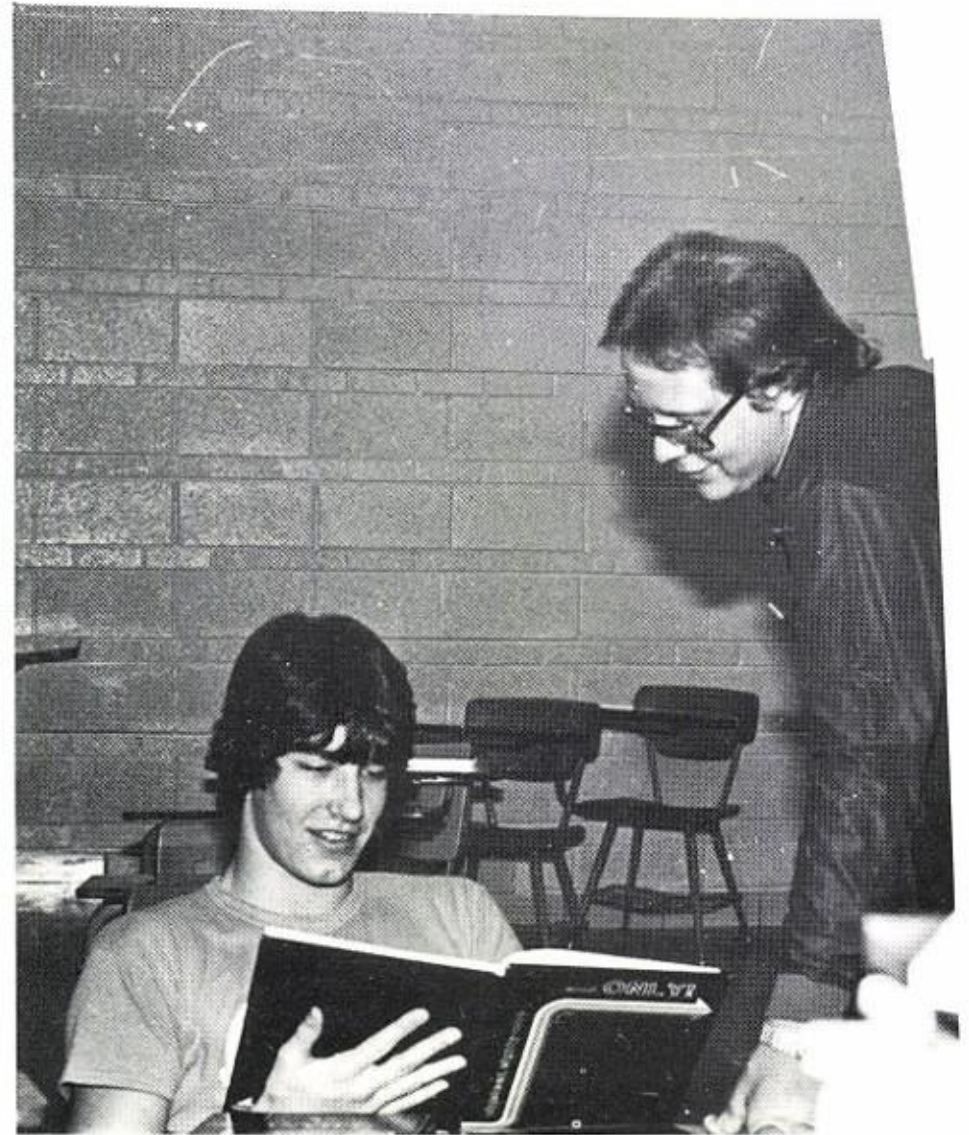

New staff utilizes creativity

The 1981-82 yearbook staff took on a difficult task this year. A new instructor as well as five new students were introduced to the area of producing the yearbook. The number of students enrolled in the class this year is 14, a decrease of six from last year. This year's editors are Brad Stephens and Mary Novosad. The remaining students are Lisa Sears, Greg Wilson, Kelly

Burton, Jerry Augustyn, Steve Taylor, Lori Trump, John Smith, Diane Stoltenberg, Paul Moyer, Arlene Streff, and Paul Hill. The faculty sponsor is Mark Pedersen. Yearbook gives students a chance to improve skills in creative writing, interviewing, photography, team work, journalism techniques, and layout design.

Facing the possibility of not printing a newspaper due to lack of funds and a small staff, the Oracle staff beat all the odds and ended up printing seven papers.

Starting off with only seven staff members for the first semester, the Oracle barely managed to get off the ground. With the addition of Paul Hill and John Smith in the second semester, they gained personnel and writing skill.

Oracle editor John Dubas said that he was surprised and pleased at the efforts of the staff during the times when it seemed all would fail.

"I really appreciated all the hard work put out by the whole staff," said Dubas.

"We did a good job considering we had no funds due to the spending lid. Even though the basic appearance of the paper wasn't the neatest, the effort and the writing by the staff proved to be our success."

ORD C.C. MEETS TOUGH COMPETITION

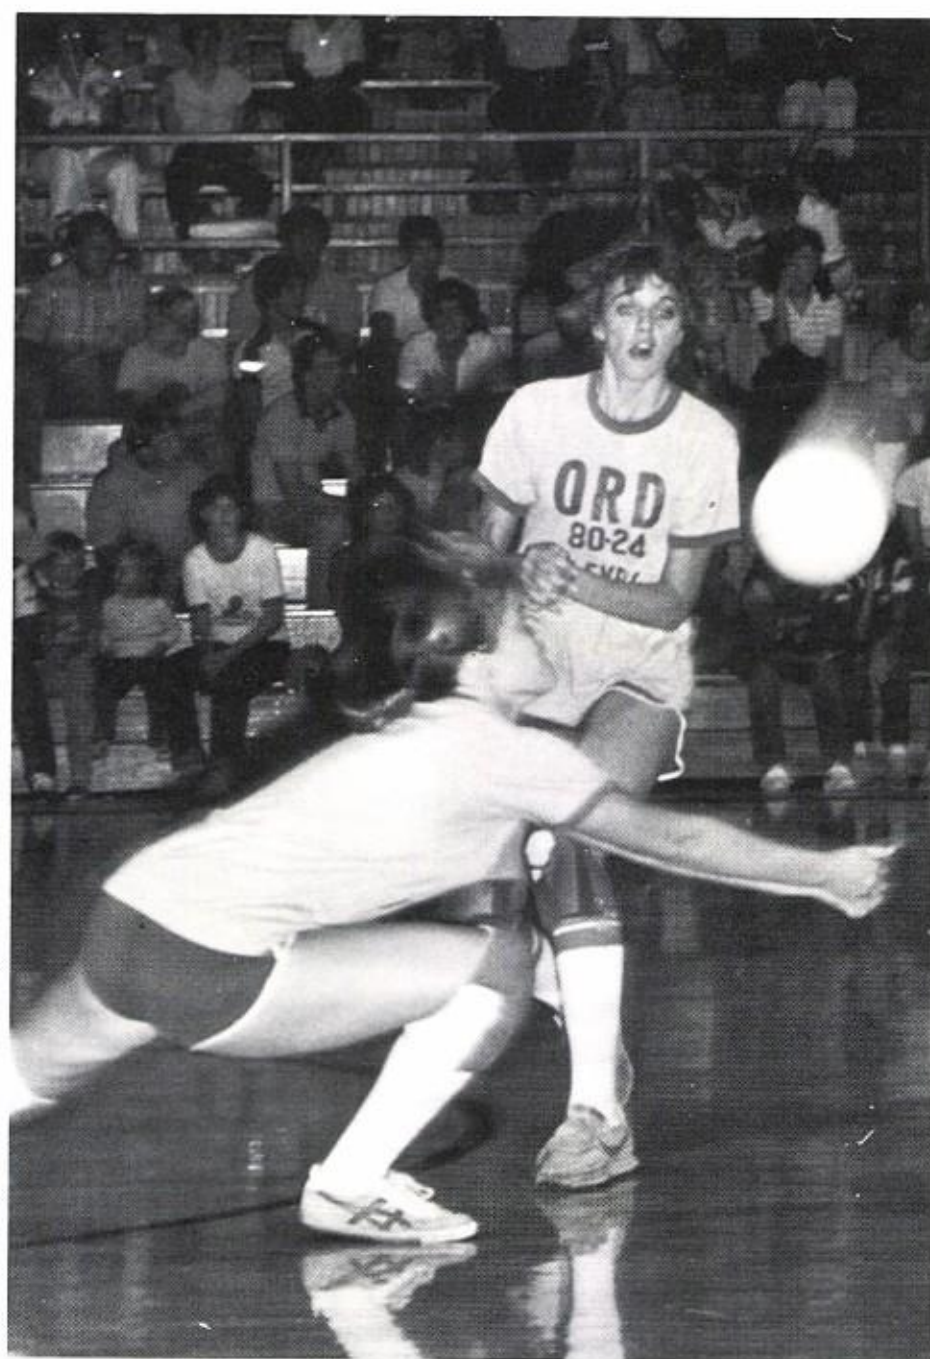

Because of their tough competition the Ord cross country team did not have an exceptionally good season this year. They had nine meets including the Ord Invite in which they placed eight out of nine teams. This year's team, consisting of six juniors and one sophomore, "Did very well," according to coach Rich Cecetka. Scott Novosad said, "even though this year was not very successful, this year's experience will help us greatly through next season."

HARDWORK EARN'S SUCCESSFUL SEASON

Hardwork, a winning attitude and being competitive led the reserve girls' volleyball team to a successful season. The Ord reserves finished with a 5-3 record. The Chants had a large squad consisting of 18 members at the beginning of the season and many excelled up to the varsity level before the end of the season. Coach Elaine Haas said "Every player experienced a lot of actual playing time which is a valuable key for future successes."

SPIKERS RECEIVE CONFERENCE HONORS

Senior Julie Brass pounds a spike back over the net.

The lack of consistency in serving was a big contributor to the slow season of the lady chants as they compiled a 3-9 record. Coach Jan Weber quoted that the competition was extremely tough because so many of the teams they played qualified for state.

Working hard and doing the best they possibly could paid off as two team members received top conference honors. They were Amy Gibbons and Deb Meese.

The willingness of the freshman volleyball team to pick themselves up when they were behind was the key to their 6-0 record.

The first year coaching job by Kelly Clemens was a great success as they worked the basic skills all season long which helped them out in all those close games that they had. The cooperation of all the other coaches in helping out the team also contributed to all of their success.

IMPROVEMENT GAINED

A successful season was the end result for both the Junior High Lady Chant volleyball teams. The seventh and eighth grade teams each had 2-2 records. Coach Sandy Bartholemew said, "All the girls were given a chance to play in each game in order to gain valuable experience for future playing years." The seventh grade team had a total of 12 members while the eighth graders had 17. Bartholemew stated everyone showed a definite improvement throughout the whole season."

After finishing the season 1-8 last year, the varsity gridders turned everything around and ended their season with six wins and two losses. Coach Gene Suhr said, "The highlight of the season was being rated eighth at the end of the season and a key win over Albion. "There were 41 members on the team and ten of them were Seniors. Brian Cetak was picked as a High School All-American and an All-Stater for the chants. Suhr said, "It was a very good season, losing only to the top two teams in the state."

RESERVES GAIN EXPERIENCE

Below: Huddling up is the oncoming Ord Chants.

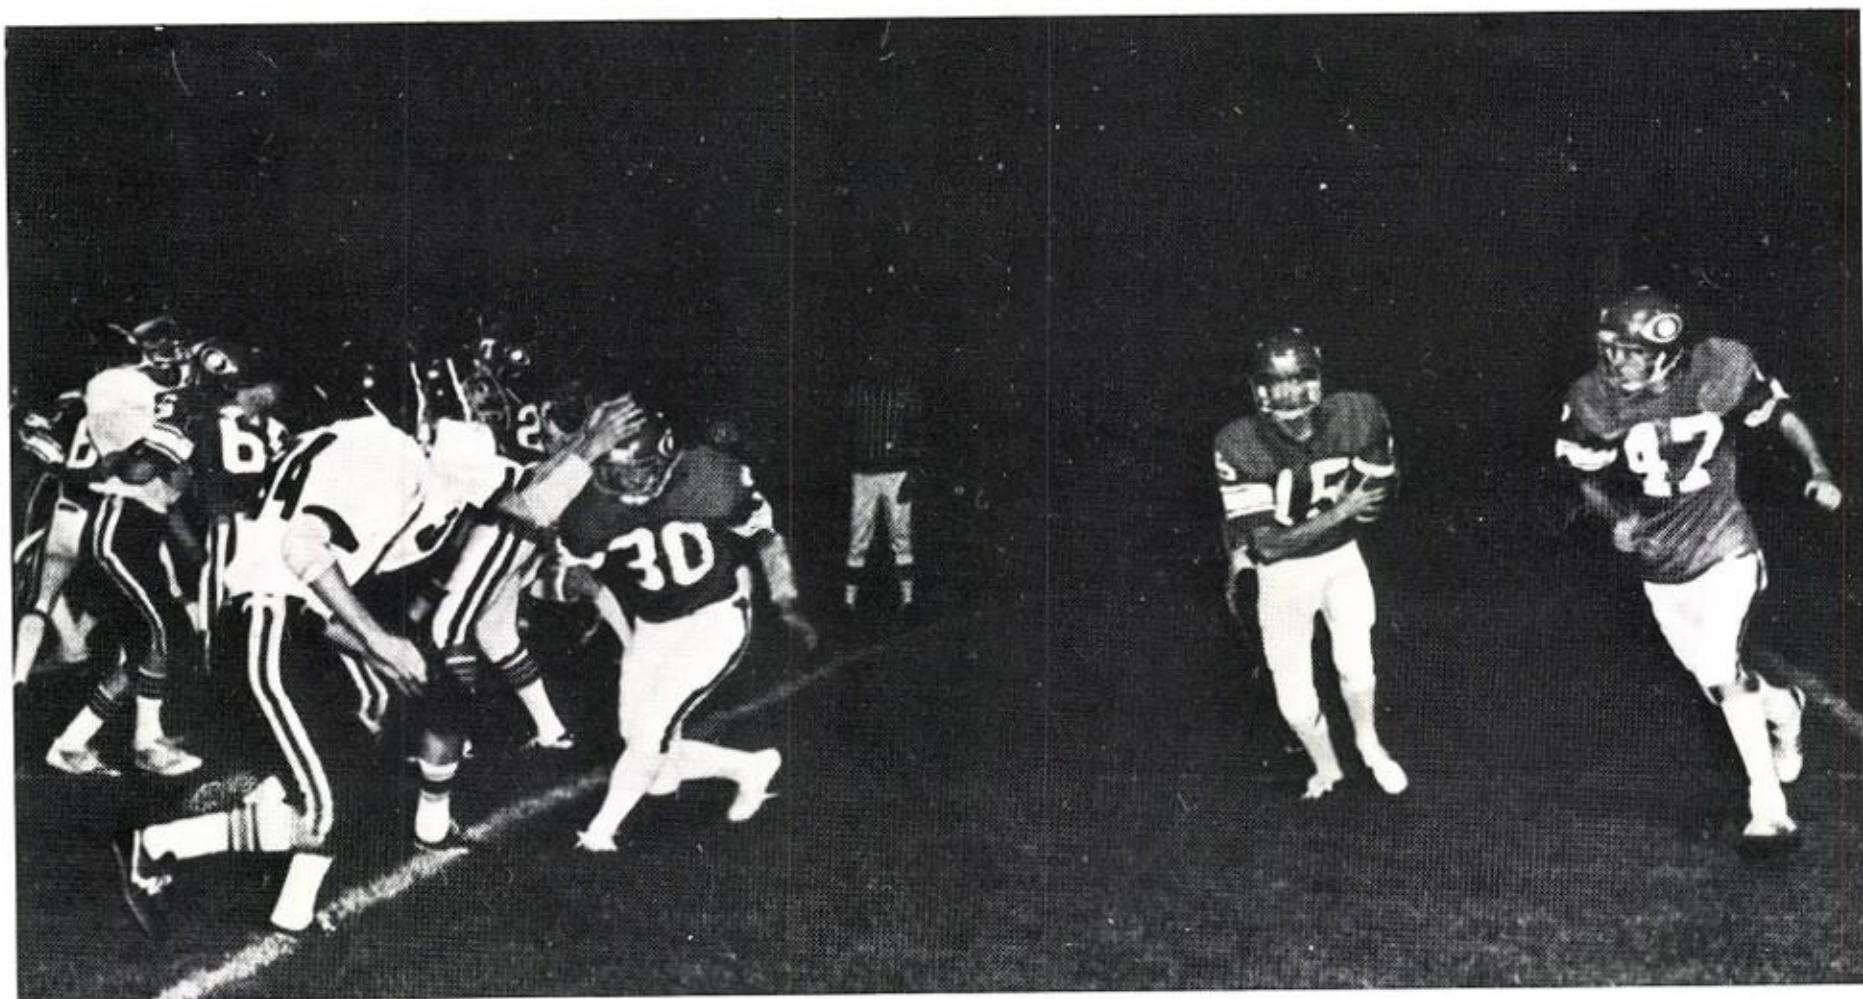

Underclassmen gained experience as they prepared for the upcoming year. There was a lot of improvement in techniques by individual players from beginning to the end.

Coach Carl Streeter said that they had an exceptional year at 4-1. It was all for the better except for the one loss to Northwest which was caused by dropped passes, penalties and missed assignments.

Russ Blaha quoted it was a team effort backed by a lot of good coaching that produced their good season.

FROSH GO 0-5

Lack of victories isn't an indicator of a lack of success. Improvement was seen in all areas on and off the field for the frosh football team.

The first year coaching job by Rick Ernst contributed to what was not always a dominate team but were a competitive one as they compiled an 0-5 record on the year. Coach Ernst thought he had learned more than anybody by the end of the year.

JR. HIGH GRIDDERS SHARPEN SKILLS

The Jr. High football team was fortunate again this year to have a large number of boys participating. There were 18 eighth-graders and 16 seventh-graders on the team. While compiling an 0-3-1 record the gridgers found that they were competitive in every game. Even more important, the players learned to sharpen their skills as future Ord High School football players.

YOUNG GRAPPLERS LOW IN NUMBERS

The 7th and 8th wrestling team was small but very mighty, as they had only seven out, but every individual was exceptionally aggressive. When a team from Albion came down with about four times as many kids, Albion got a little over-confident, as the Ord grapplers defeated them in the dual. "Each Ord grappler had to wrestle about three times each," Coach Dick Rischling quoted.

WRESTLERS GAIN PRESTIGIOUS CONFERENCE TITLE

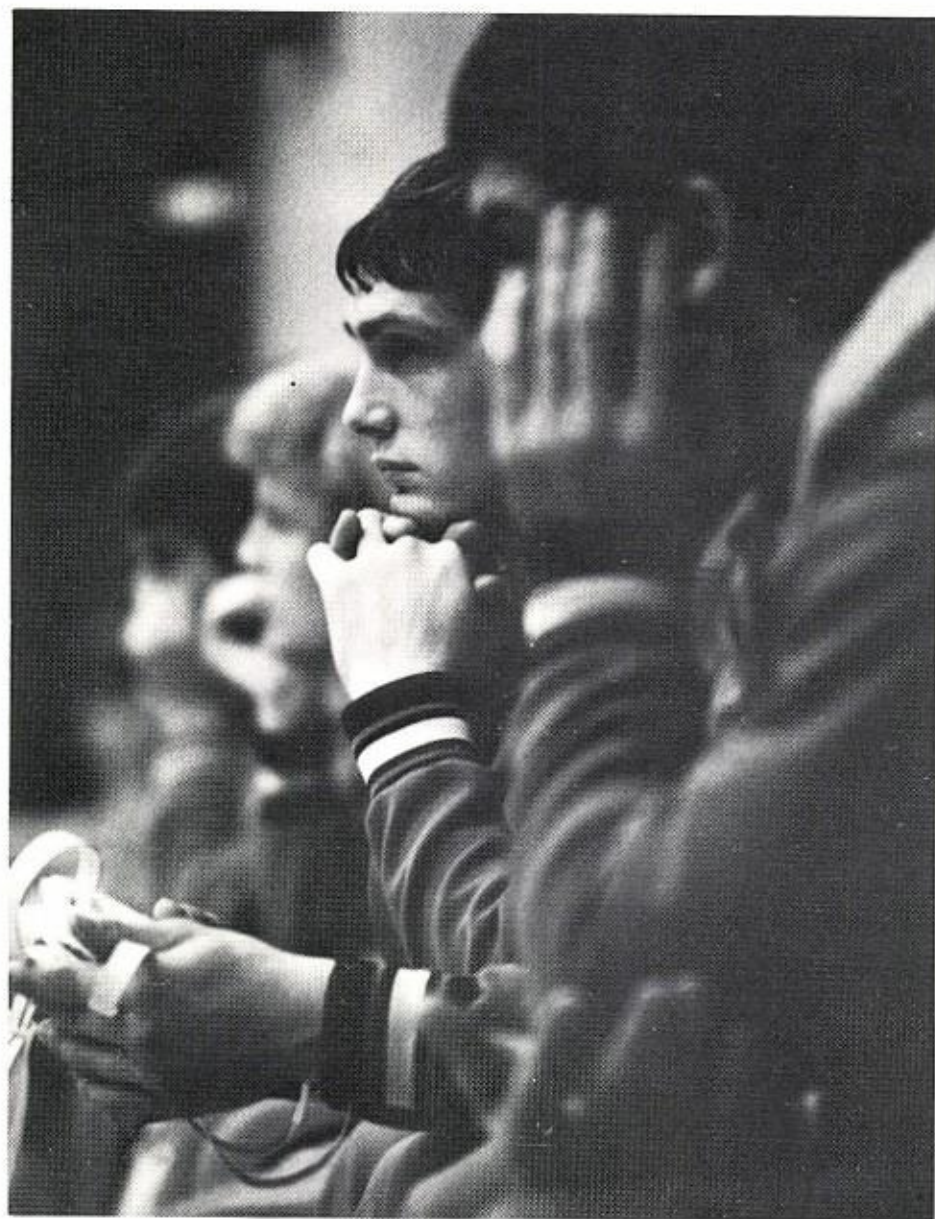

Closeness of the varsity wrestling team members and senior leadership were the biggest contributing to the outstanding season of the Ord grapplers. The Chanticleers set 8 out of 13 single season records and 6 of 8 career records for Ord High and also set a class B record for most pins in a tournament at Ainsworth.

Third year coach Dave Shrader said, "Being the first Central Conference champs was a great honor for the wrestling team."

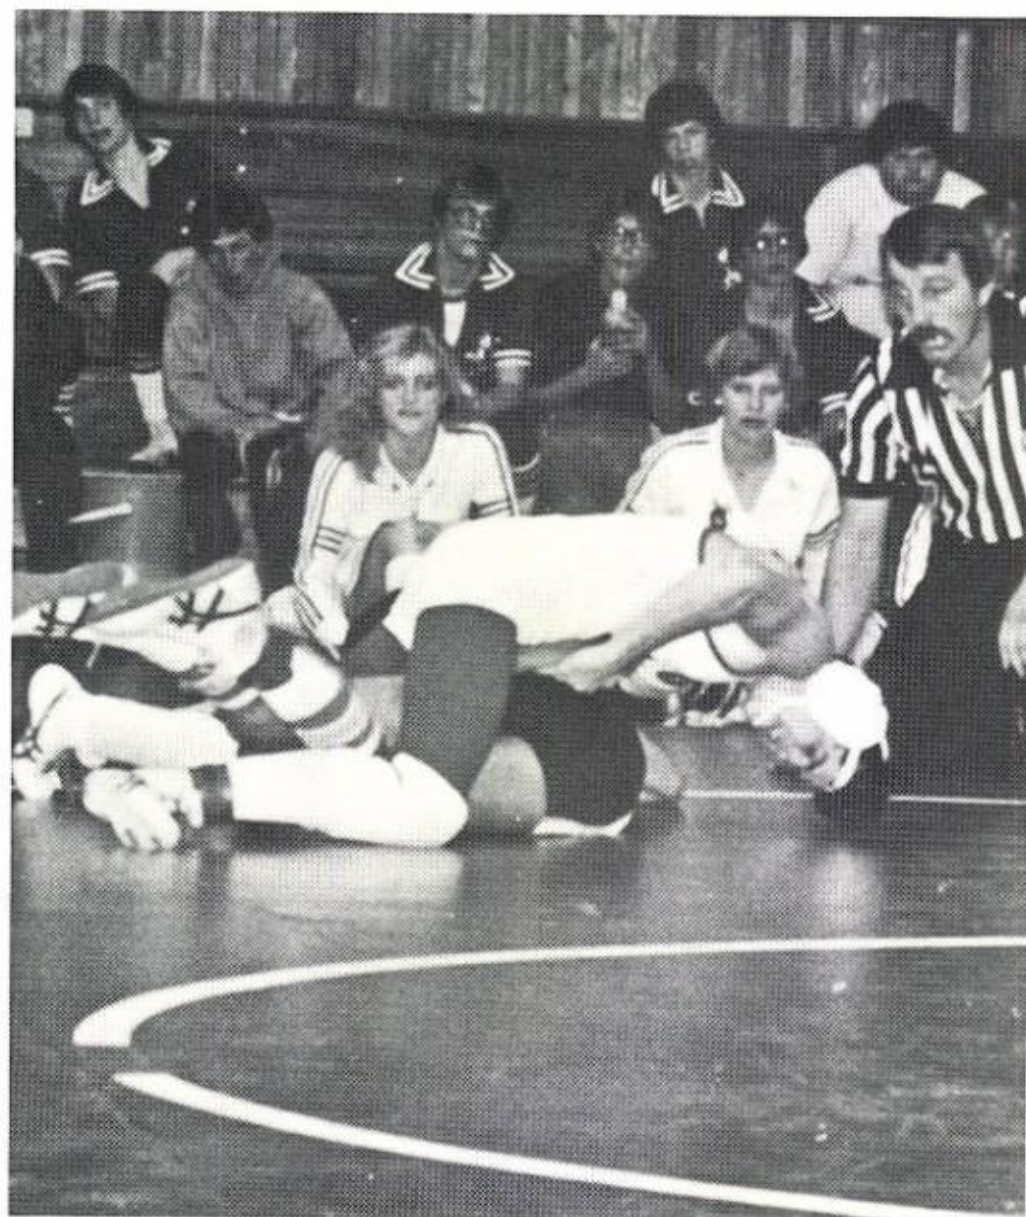

Placing 11th at state was the highest placing for OHS in wrestling ever, as the Chanticleers sent 5 to state. Sterling Ritz 3rd, Mike Wadas 4th, Doug Conner 5th, Scott Duda and Todd Zulkoski did not place.

RESERVES READY FOR VARSITY

A victory on a last second shot to defeat Loup City was the start of a season that ended with a successful 7-4 record overall, and a 4-2 Conference record.

The Reserve Lady Chants were led by Jenny Anderson who shot 46% from the field and scored a team-leading 78 points for the year. Sue Smith finished the year very strongly to lead the team in rebounds with 55 caroms for the season.

In coach Rick Ernst's first year, the team averaged 36 points per game to their opponents 28. Things look good for the varsity next year.

FRESHMAN GIRLS, CONFERENCE CHAMPS

The Freshman Girls Basketball Team compiled a 7-2 record in '82 and simultaneously found the right combination for winning the West Division Conference Championship.

Coach Jan Weber said that the girls took a very good attitude in playing and showed a lot of determination and consistency. She also said there was good leadership in the team. Add these qualities together and "you're bound" to come up with the championship, as this winning team did!

Top: Freshman Girls' Basketball Team.

VARSITY GIRLS CAGERS MISS STATE BID IN HEARTBREAKER

The Ord High Lady Chants coached by Max Murray had a very good year, ending their season with a 16-6 record. The chants narrowly missed a bid to the Girls' State Tournaments by losing a heartbreaker to Ainsworth 52-50 at the B-4 districts.

The girls on the team were very special by the way they took the responsibility of being good leaders and to help out the underclassmen for their upcoming year.

Senior Diane Dworak said "I wish that the seniors would have played together the whole season because it was our last year to play and to have a chance to go to the state tourney.

JUNIOR GIRLS START SLOW; BUT GAIN CROWN

The 7th and 8th grade Girls Basketball team had a slow start at the beginning but came on toward the end as the two teams combined to produce a West Central Conference title.

Coach Rich Cecetka Qouted: "The 7th grade team went 3-1 during the season as the 8th graders went 4-3.

During the season they set many records, especially Kendra Williams. She received top scorer and top rebounder honors."

RESERVE SQUAD PREPARES FOR VARSITY

The Ord Junior Varsity Boys' Basketball Team compiled a record of five wins and eight losses in 1982. Coach Gen Suhr said his team was one which improved steadily throughout the season. He added that, "many of the players should be a big help to next season's varsity."

After losing the first two games of the season, the Chant Cagers bounced back to complete the year with a 13-9 record. The reason for the above average year was a lot of teamwork throughout the whole season. Coach Fred Williams said, "We played well in the B-6 Districts but we could have played better in the finals against Ainsworth."

The team leaders of this year's squad were Senior Mike Williams and Junior Dave Minary. They were both selected to the West Division All-Conference team, Honorable Mention in the Central Conference, and first team in the Grand Island Independent.

FRESHMEN. QUICK TURN AROUND

The Freshmen Boys Basketball team started out the hoop season a little slow this year with three quick losses. They closed the year with a 5-4 record. Coach Leo Lauver said they set a goal at the start of the season to be an accomplished, balanced squad. Lauver said, "All of the boys put out 100% all of the time. They never did give up."

Last year the team was last in the Conference. This year they finished third!

JUNIOR HIGH SUCCESS

The Junior High Boys' Basketball Team dribbled their way through a season that coach Lon Bartholemew called "a success. The team was a large one, and each boy made progress in learning basketball skills."

Coach Bartholemew went on to say that "each player learned the value of his efforts in helping the team strive to be better."

With the season going up and down all year long, the Varsity Girls Track Team was still very successful. During the season, the team was breaking records and in districts some were still at it. This year's team, according to Coach Rich Cecetka, was better in track events due to the experience they had the last couple of years. Cecetka pointed out Deb Meese and Kathy Hornickle as the team leaders. They were the leading point-getters for the season. Coach Cecetka termed next year's season to be very promising if they get a lot of girls out. "There are a lot of places that need to be filled," he said. Jennifer Hansen and Dana Zlomke were the only two who made it to state this year, with Jennifer running in the 800 and Dana in the 1600.

One of the bigger highlights for the Boys Track Team was winning the Ord Invitational for the first time in 20 years. Gene Suhr, coach of the tracksters, named Shawn Sich for his performance in the 200 and 400. "He was State rated and had a very good season." The District Champions were Brian Cetak and Dave Minary.

Brian competed in the shot put and Dave threw the discus. The state qualifiers were Brian Cetak and Dave Minary in field events and Doug Welniak, Randy Welniak, Mike Williams, and Shawn Sich in the 1600 meter relay. Suhr stated, "This year's team was young and has a lot of promise for the future."

JR. HIGH GIRLS START WELL

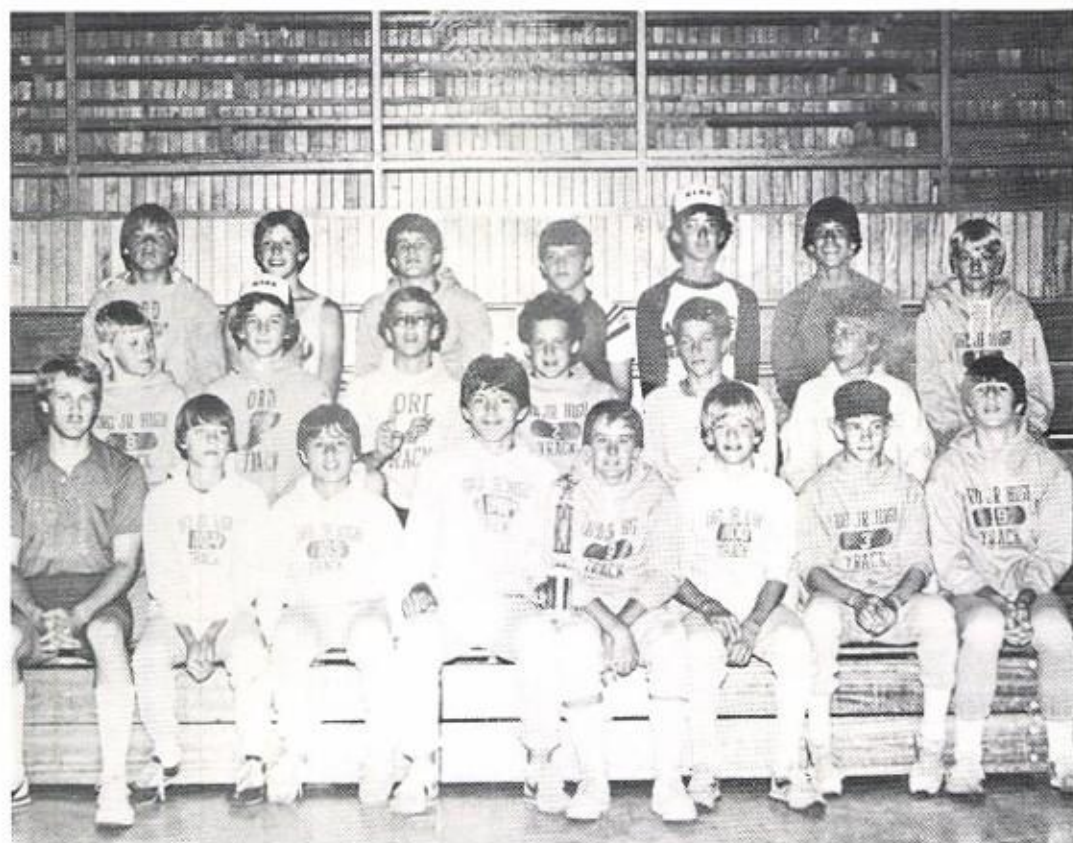

The Junior High Girls Track Team had a bit of bad luck this season, as far as participation goes. After starting the season with 23 members, the team dwindled to only 10 members throughout most of the season, because of illness and other reasons. While winning their first dual over Albion, 61-58, the squad never won another meet, but placed high in several of them. There was only one team member that participated in field events; that was Missy Cetak.

According to coach Angie Batenhorst, "the lack of membership made it very difficult to compete with teams 2 and 3 times bigger." Batenhorst also added, "the attitudes of the girls and spirit carried them through the season."

Boys who placed in every Junior High Meet!

The 1982 season was a success for the Boys Junior High Track team. They began the year with a win over Albion in a dual and by winning the Broken Bow Invitational, which was the highlight of the season.

The season also included meets at Adams Central, Grand Island, and Loup City. The Junior thinclads didn't win any of these contests, but showed well in all three.

Four boys placed in every meet this year; Brad Novasad, Dan Klimek, Dennis Schmitt, and Tom Kruml. They lead a team which consisted of 25 seventh and eighth boys.

Coach Ernst termed the year "a very satisfying experience, with a good group of kids returning for next year."

TEAM WORK NEEDED

This year's OHS golf team consisted of four seniors, one junior, three sophomores, and one freshman. Although individual members played well during the season, the group did not always play together as a team.

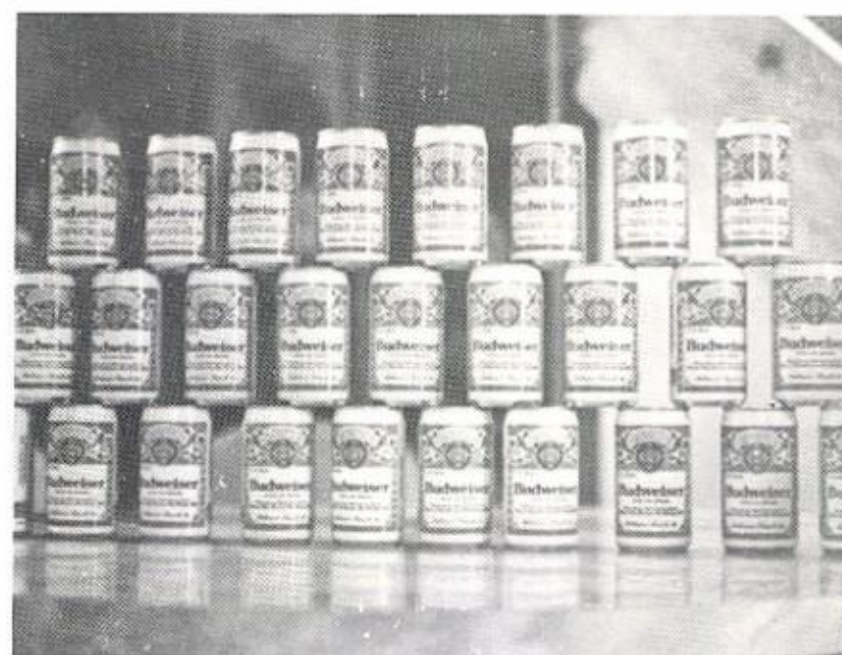

The golfers placed 3rd, 5th, 6th, 8th, and 10th in the five invitational they attended. Their record in dual was one and one.

FOR THE RECORD, what was 1982? You can describe it with the usual words that are used to label a year: exciting, boring, unusual, routine, or different. But how do you describe the feelings, thoughts, and memories that were experienced at OHS. If you participated in Athletics, you felt optimism and a winning spirit that hadn't been around the home of the Chanticleer for years. For the most part, clubs and organizations were dormant, with exceptions such as the new first-year clubs that attracted large and eager memberships. If you were one of the 74 seniors, you finally knew what it was like to receive that long-awaited-for diploma that took 13 years to achieve. By the end of the year, the seventh graders felt, with the satisfaction that they were no longer seivies, that they had the school under control and that graduation was just around the corner. FOR THE RECORD, to be a student at OHS in 1982 gave you a distinct feeling of pride and respect just to be a Chanticleer.

The 1982 yearbook staff wishes to thank Keith Upah for his advice and hours of long work spent on the book, and Hans Madsen and Leo Lauver for their extra help with photography. Additional appreciation goes to staff members Paul Hill for his development of the theme, "FOR THE RECORD," and Lisa Sears for her hard work in selling ads. A very special thanks goes to Advisor Mark Pedersen for because of his long hours of hard work and dedication this book was made possible.

We are in debt also to the students, faculty, and administration at Ord High School for making 1982 a RECORD year.

Linske

"I will lend you for a little time, a child of mine," he said
 For you to love the while she lives and mourn for when she's dead.
 It may be six or seven years or twenty-two or three
 But will you till I call her back take care of her for me?
 She'll have her lovely memories as solice for your grief.
 I cannot promise how long she'll stay since all from earth return
 But there are lessons taught down there I want this child to learn.
 I've looked the wide world over in my search for parents true
 And from the throng that crowd life's lanes I have selected you
 Now will you give her all your love nor think the labor vain.
 Nor hate me when I come to call to take her home again.
 I fancied that I heard you say, Dear Lord thy will be done.
 For all the joy this child will bring the risk of grief we'll run.
 We'll shelter her with tenderness, we'll love her while we may
 And for the happiness we have known forever grateful stay.
 But should the angels call for her much sooner than we have planned,
 We'll have the bitter grief that comes and try to understand.
